Nope its two separate websites. The betting site is a csgobetting site.

The fifa community is a FIFA community with betting but the betting function is disabled there because issues with EA.

Yeah its like a airplane its flying on the road.

do?pey - December 16, 2017, 6:06 pm

God damn that is a monster ... congrats

DashPHP - December 17, 2017, 7:03 am

This is also a dream car of mine, 400k kr converts to 35k GBP so that is substantially cheaper than they are priced here.. Interesting xd Really nice car, I'm interested in buying one next year but currently leaning towards a 2016 Porsche 981 Cayman S as that is about the same price as a 2008-2010 Nissan GTR. I've always wanted a Nissan GTR, but I really dislike paying high prices for maintenance of vehicles as it feels like wasted money so I'm probably going to go with the Porsche.

Also for people acting like OP is super rich to buy this, bare in mind that the cost of this car is basically the same cost as buying a new 2019 Audi A4 with a couple of extras... It's really not a bank breaking car, just about anyone who makes $2000 a month could afford a loan agreement on something like this. Although I'm happy for OP, just shows how many kids really are on this site to think OP must be a millionaire.

Lmfao someone is butthurt over my car, keep in mind that the prices are different from country to country.

AND NO I WOULD NEVER TAKE A LOAN TO BUY A CAR LMFAO.

I said it's a nice car and a good achievement although everyone is commenting on here as if you need to be super rich to buy something like this, which you really don't, half of the people in my town are driving cars which are equivalent to this on price so it isn't that special as to what people are making it out to be, loan/finance/PCP deals all the same shit, most people have a loan or finance agreement against there car in some form, really it's kind of stupid to buy a car outright for $35,000 if you only have $35,000 for example, you could get a agreement on it to pay $1000 per month for 3 years or so and then use the $35,000 to invest if you're smart at all.

First of all, they don't rent out those kinds of cars where I live, and rented cars often have some kind of advertisement on them.

Lucky bastard man, such a nice car.

One of my dream builds is a Nissan 240sx with a GTR engine swap..
Literally nothing on the road would be able to beat me.
