Thread: how do i check the reason for a negative reputation?

FalloutGirl - August 11, 2017, 10:40 am

I think some moderators gave me a negative reputation but I don't remember breaking any rules I can't seem to find a reason for why I was given them and i can't message them because I don't have the required posts?

They aren't moderators, they were just negging you to neg you it seems. lol.

FalloutGirl - August 11, 2017, 10:43 am

Can people just give you a negative without a reason, they never really left a reason that I can comprehend?

i mean, if you go to your profile and click where your reputation is, you see their comments... seems like they just don't like you lmao

Didn't know a number on your screen could make you so worked up.

It's not about the number on my screen I just don't know what I could have done wrong to upset them?

Who cares? You probably just expressed your freedom of speech and got hate because of it.

People can leave rep for whatever reason they like, as long as it stays within the rules here.

I doubt they'll remember. And if it was a gang rep they most likely won't admit it. But yeah.

Well, since someone said something about rep in the actual rep message I'd reckon you mentioned the fact you have red rep and you cant do something in the marketplace.
