Thread: League Addiction

So... there we go. I said it. I'm addicted. Wake up and League sessions that last from 12:00pm - 4:00am with little breaks here and there to eat and piss. I have no good friends that enjoy league for long periods of time as much as me. Would like to talk to someone while playing. If you're out there, please contact me.

That's literally me. I was on vacation and when I played there I always had like a high ping because of the connection.

Connection sucked so much I fell from D5 to plat lol.

I'm not on the NA server but I can discord with you or something if you want that.

I played for about 5 years then quit. I used to play it constantly then I just realized "I'm literally not having fun, this fucking sucks".

Fuck that game, I uninstalled it and havent looked back.

Yeah noticed as I ranked up and the sweater people got the more toxic and annoying the game was. I play it like once a week now hope to get that down to like once a year fuck that addiction, worse then crack...literally. Tried both. Not a fucking crack head.

Maybe do other things your friends are doing or look at what motivates you in life in general (pls don't say League), go outside/workout, anything. Being addicted to anything and doing it for that much daily isn't good no matter what it is my man. Hope you'll see what I mean.

Most of my friends are all about doing drugs, smoking weed, poker, and that's basically it.

I have a home gym that I built so I workout at home here and there whenever I feel like it.

Sounds fun haha, I love smoking weed aswell. Yeah that's hard, you could always find a new thing you like and try to get to know new people through that if you're not happy being addicted or gambling. If you don't change the things you do, the outcome is gonna stay the same.
