

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Recovering Deleted Data from Flash Drive \[HELP\]](#)

Velo - August 14, 2017, 7:05 pm

So, I have a USB that data was deleted from it not long ago.
I can use EaseUS but its only the trial version and its trash.

Anyone know of any other free programs that does a good job at this + to recover the files?

EliteTM - August 14, 2017, 11:04 pm

I accidentally deleted some important files/folders I had on my USB (for the record it was a Lexar 8GB or 16GB), I used a data recovery program right away. I think I used EaseUS, Pandora Recovery or Recuva. It's important not to continue to move files around, delete files or add other files on the USB. I should probably also mention I only used the free versions of the software. Just curious but how big is the data your trying to recover?

bindon10 - August 15, 2017, 1:11 am

(Aug 14, 2017 11:04 PM)EliteTM Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I accidentally deleted some important files/folders I had on my USB (for the record it was a Lexar 8GB or 16GB), I used a data recovery program right away. I think I used EaseUS, Pandora Recovery or Recuva. It's important not to continue to move files around, delete files or add other files on the USB. I should probably also mention I only used the free versions of the software. Just curious but how big is the data your trying to recover?

Like EliteTM said, those programs should do the trick. though I personally recommend recuva as I have used it in the past and had fantastic results.