

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: fake generator websites

Herron - August 15, 2017, 5:14 am

hello, i was wondering if it's hard and how do people make these websites where you go in and have a legit looking generator (for example where you have to type in your username in a game, then select which amount of the stuff you want to get and such) and after that making the survey pop up as a "human verification" or something. is there a place where you can get/buy these website scripts? thanks

Bobthegod - August 15, 2017, 5:16 am

If you are starting up, you can just copy most of the pages.

You can use :

<http://darcyripper.com/>

<https://www.httrack.com/> to copy their pages, all you need to do is edit the locker

Frankey - August 15, 2017, 5:18 am

They aren't hard to make, it's mostly just HTML, CSS and sometimes some Javascript.

As said above you can just copy other websites aswell :)

God - August 15, 2017, 5:20 am

They aren't too hard to make but the hardest part is actually advertising it (and to the right audience)

Herron - August 15, 2017, 5:24 am

(Aug 15, 2017 05:16 AM)Average Baller Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you are starting up, you can just copy most of the pages.

You can use :

to copy their pages, all you need to do is edit the locker

thank you very much ! and how do i set up the website? should i use sites like wordpress? i mean can i add the files from the copied website there?

(Aug 15, 2017 05:20 AM)smye Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They aren't too hard to make but the hardest part is actually advertising it (and to the right audience)

yes that is probably my main problem, i had made a pretty okay looking website but my traffic was non existent. right now i would like to invest some money into traffic but i'm not too confident in doing it since i don't know if i would make the money back.