Thread: Why 3p1c can access Trust Scan while L33t can't?

Snapbytes - August 16, 2017, 3:33 pm

3p1c has less access to some HF features and L33t has more access than 3p1c. I'm just wondering why L33t's can't use the Trust Scan feature? Does anyone know the reason why?

There would be no reason to buy 3p1c if L33ts had all the features.

It does suck, I can't see if they having matching IPs or anything suspicious ETC.

That's why I use a middle man 99% of the time.

I still do my research on anybody I deal with tho.

So that you will buy more upgrades. It's a business.

Because L33T is not more important than 3P1C.

3P1C is a secondary update! Meaning; you get additional features that both UB3R and L33T don't get.

There needs to be an incentive for users to want more than only l33t.

It's a smart business strategy. Every upgrade has something unique about it and gives a reason why you should purchase it.
