If you're on Windows 10 type in the search bar default webbrowser a setting will come up and you can change your browser in there.

Edit: Didn't read last reply

To change your browser open "Default app settings" and go to "Set default by app" where you should see your browser.

I'd advise to do a virus scan with a reputable program such as Malwarebytes from the official website if there is an program you didn't install on your PC.
