Thread: Builder for my server.exe ?

BinaryFox - August 18, 2017, 11:27 am

Hello HF!

I have a small problem, I own the source of a rat but I would like to create a mini builder.

I therefore own the source of the Client and Server

Now how to create a builder to simply modify the contents of a variable in the source of the server that will compile the server with the new contents of the variable ??

Why doesn't it surprise me you both have low rep values, you both make the programming group look bad with this kind of shit. Why don't you both just drop this childish crap and go legit and earn an honest dollar for your work.

Your service to this subforum is greatly appreciated.

Why don't you stop posting on help threads if you don't have anything useful to say for yourself.

Why don't you stop posting on help threads if you don't have anything useful to say for yourself. You've literally been here for 14 days and you already have -16 rep not for scamming or anything just for being a overall dick.

I know. It's quite the accomplishment. Apparently stepping on people's toes will make them give you some red numbers. That's very spooky ? .

Lot's of people think that I think I'm better than them which is not the case. Providing them with mere criticism and critical thinking and voila although I will admit that the way I word things is probably the way an asshole would.

Anyway, if I cared what people thought of me, I wouldn't act this way now would I. That and this will explain my inner workings. So don't worry, I won't be here very long ?
