

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Thread Design - A new style!

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 21, 2017, 5:59 am

Hello everyone, it's been some time since I last posted into the RMG section, so here's my latest thread design which was built on a new style, which I'm trying for the first time, the 3D and flat style!

Click the image for the full preview!
Let me know your thoughts!

M3m3Destr0y3r - August 21, 2017, 6:00 am

Really nice thread design! I like the colors.

Space• - August 21, 2017, 6:00 am

Amazing. Definitely AMAZING work. Are all the vectors created by you? This is one of the most detailed Thread Designs I've ever seen. The amount of detail and spacing you used is good, colour scheme as well. And it is organic, so not only squares were just but all kinds of shapes and lines.

How long did it take you OP?

Hell - August 21, 2017, 6:03 am

I really love the design.
Keep going man. You are the best

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 21, 2017, 6:04 am

(Aug 21, 2017 06:00 AM)space Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Amazing. Definitely AMAZING work. Are all the vectors created by you? This is one of the most detailed Thread Designs I've ever seen. The amount of detail and spacing you used is good, colour scheme as well. And it is organic, so not only squares were just but all kinds of shapes and lines.

How long did it take you OP?

The elements used are freebies found online, but adjusted through Adobe Illustrator to match the product needs (that would include deforming them, colouring them, re-arranging them etc).

Such a thread design would take me around 6 hours to build!

SIM-888979 - August 21, 2017, 6:07 am

Looks beautiful. I'll definitely come to you when I need a thread design done!

Baby Groot - August 21, 2017, 6:14 am

It looks awesome, flat designs are starting to get boring and more 3D element is getting into the groove.

SIM-1729678 - August 21, 2017, 6:16 am

Great work mate. Keep it up :D

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 21, 2017, 6:17 am

(Aug 21, 2017 06:14 AM)Baby Groot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It looks awesome, flat designs are starting to get boring and more 3D element is getting into the groove.

Yea, thought of bringing something new into the game :D

Thanks everyone!

Motusora - August 21, 2017, 6:18 am

it's good and clean but i was thinking since it was titled " gold mine "
i guess it's better to use a gold color scheme ...

Space• - August 21, 2017, 6:19 am

(Aug 21, 2017 06:04 AM)? THEINsPIREDONE Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The elements used are freebies found online, but adjusted through Adobe Illustrator to match the product needs (that would include deforming them, colouring them, re-arranging them etc).

Such a thread design would take me around 6 hours to build!

Also, do you create your thread designs in Photoshop or Illustrator?

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 21, 2017, 6:21 am

(Aug 21, 2017 06:18 AM)Motusora Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) it's good and clean but i was thinking since it was titled " gold mine "

i guess it's better to use a gold color scheme ...

You're right, however the colour scheme was chosen by the owner himself just a year ago, when he firstly purchased this thread:

<https://i.imgur.com/crlHmVw.jpg>

And now it was a time for a revamp, but we didn't want to get too far away from the feeling and trust that the product design has already built within that year!

So we wanted a similar colour scheme but different look!

zetza - August 21, 2017, 9:41 am

You can get a lot of inspiration from looking at presentations of websites on Behance, which I believe you already have.

The style is sick, so I won't comment on that.

But the circular + is somewhat oddly positioned if you think about it, since everything is in very chronological order on top of each other.

I mean you have blocks of text with the same font size and weight and stuff, but at the top there's this symbol in the same line and after the text it's representing. Probably because the name is Bitcoin+, but then the circle doesn't really make sense, unless it's a part of the brand.

The cta button seems a bit odd too, because of the drop shadow you put on it, but I'm just pointing out very little details, that won't really matter to users on this site asking for thread designs.

I don't think the picture on the screen should be sticking out from the laptop, there seems to be a bit too much sticking out, and then you can have both Credit cards inside of the keyboard, and create some distance to the edge of the laptop. Try matching the shadows the same for the whole page, just for a cleaner look, so it doesn't look like there are 3 different light sources. Personally I'd make a smaller shadow like this for the credit cards on the keyboard, instead of just using the photoshop drop shadow blending option: <http://vectorboom.com/tutorials/3.jpg>

Something about the icons are off, and you probably already know: <https://prnt.sc/gb9m36>

I love when people use a combination of different colors and font styles (Cursive, bold etc.) in the titles, as you did, as it makes certain keywords stick out more.

I'm having a similar discussion with myself about the font size for the body text, because it gets really hard to read, but at the same time it looks a lot cleaner that way. But I guess usability will always win for obvious reasons, just for thought

Narwin - August 21, 2017, 12:39 pm

As I see this is the totally brand new of desgin threads , you did a fantastic job , well done.

Excalibur' - August 21, 2017, 1:57 pm

Always adored your work, just amazing! Well done <3

The Doge of Wall Street - August 21, 2017, 1:58 pm

nice thread design if i ever need one ill come to you it gave me a mental orgasm oRequiem - August 21, 2017, 7:51 pm

It looks crazy too.

I like what you did with the light shadowing.

Kidjohnz™ - August 22, 2017, 7:53 pm

Looks great man, I love the color scheme that you got going on! :)

Luck 2 - August 23, 2017, 5:31 am

That looks so nice and professional, nice

t0rox5 - August 23, 2017, 7:55 am

Good choice of colors and overall very good and professional looking. Definitely a good job!

Regulus - August 23, 2017, 7:56 am

This design looks sick man!

10/10

Keep it up :)

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 23, 2017, 8:02 am

(Aug 21, 2017 06:19 AM)space Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Also, do you create your thread designs in Photoshop or Illustrator?

My thread designs are made in Adobe Photoshop. Been using Photoshop since I was 14 and I find it really comfortable and fast to work with!

(Aug 21, 2017 09:41 AM)zetta Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can get a lot of inspiration from looking at presentations of websites on Behance, which I believe you already have.

The style is sick, so I won't comment on that.

But the circular + is somewhat oddly positioned if you think about it, since everything is in very chronological order on top of each other.

I mean you have blocks of text with the same font size and weight and stuff, but at the top there's this symbol in the same line and after the text it's representing. Probably because the name is Bitcoin+, but then the circle doesn't really make sense, unless it's a part of the brand.

The cta button seems a bit odd too, because of the drop shadow you put on it, but I'm just pointing out very little details, that won't really matter to users on this site asking for thread designs.

I don't think the picture on the screen should be sticking out from the laptop, there seems to be a bit too much sticking out, and then you can have both Credit cards inside of the keyboard, and create some distance to the edge of the laptop. Try matching the shadows the same for the whole page, just for a cleaner look, so it doesn't look like there are 3 different light sources. Personally I'd make a smaller shadow like this for the credit cards on the keyboard, instead of just using the photoshop drop shadow blending option: <http://vectorboom.com/tutorials/3.jpg>

Something about the icons are off, and you probably already know: <https://prnt.sc/gb9m36>

I love when people use a combination of different colors and font styles (Cursive, bold etc.) in the titles, as you did, as it makes certain keywords stick out more.

I'm having a similar discussion with myself about the font size for the body text, because it gets really hard to read, but at the same time it looks a lot cleaner that way. But I guess usability will always win for obvious reasons, just for thought

Thank you for your constructive feedback and thoughts! Here are a few points I'd like to answer to!

First off, I don't use behance as my inspiration source, I find dribbble rather less complicated :P Dribbble.com all the way!!!!

I make sure my call-to-action buttons display as they would be in "active state" had it been a website design. But since forum thread designs can't be interactive, I just go with that approach!

Regarding the picture sticking out of the screen, well, it's a matter of personal taste I think. I believe it enhances the feeling of 3D! Just a small touch!

Lastly, about the main body text size, I never work with more than 16px. I believe 14-16px is the perfect size of a body text, which is the basic one used on most blogs around the web! Increasing the size or making the text bolder will certainly take it out of the "body text" category and move it up a little, to the "titles" category.

Thank you everyone for your comments and thoughts, and I'm glad that my design has been featured in the weekly news of Hackforums!

Peace!

Limitless - August 23, 2017, 8:07 am

Wow, that's sick! I love this design :)

Misery - August 23, 2017, 8:22 am

Without a doubt, one of the best thread designs I've seen in a while!

Although I'm not a major fan of the transparent cash in the background.

? THEINsPIREDONE - August 23, 2017, 8:26 am

(Aug 23, 2017 08:22 AM)Delusional Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Without a doubt, one of the best thread designs I've seen in a while!

Although I'm not a major fan of the transparent cash in the background.

It had to scream "hey, this thread is about making money" somehow :P

Chosen 1 - August 23, 2017, 8:27 am

Very nice and professional

9/10

J. McCarthy - August 23, 2017, 8:59 am

This is exactly what I was hoping for when I said hf needs a new style.
Consider yourself contracted for the first 3 :)

zer0-XYZ - August 27, 2017, 5:23 am

Damm this some next level shit... Very good design ma nigga

? THEINsPIREDONE - September 6, 2017, 1:53 am

Thank you everyone! I've done a couple more thread designs based on this style, which I'll post in a couple of days once I'm done with my current requests!

Peace!

LANCE - September 6, 2017, 9:44 am

Anything made from the ? THEINsPIREDONE is always top quality.

Very nice design man! Keep up the superb effort and work.