Thread: PayPal limited withdraw/bank removed but still shows?

sm?ked - August 26, 2017, 7:40 am

My PayPal was limited exactly 108 days ago with 200 dollars in it. I have waited because people say you can withdraw after a certain amount of time. It has removed my bank account from the paypal but still shows them on my dashboard.

Am I ready to withdraw?

Isn't it 180 days? I don't think you're able to withdraw yet

It's 180 days so you can't withdraw yet, why not calling them and find out your options?

You gotta wait 180 days and then I think they only let you withdraw via bank transfer or check until you verify your acc.

It's 180 days. If PayPal removed your Bank account, call them and request to add your bank account That's what I did.

So I can infact withdraw the money after the 180 days?

It depends on the reason.

If you were limited for hitting the threshold, then you'll need to also upload proof of identity.

I used PayPal when I was 15 for HF, and I hit the 1k limit accidentally and got limited, they wanted ID proof which I obviously couldn't provide, so just copped the loss xd

There was a lawsuit against paypal for "illegally withholding funds" and it was ruled their not supposed to withhold your funds, or make you wait.
