

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Auto buy and sellers who come online once a year

tesla-hobbit - August 31, 2017, 4:13 am

Hey there.

Sorry if i'm posting in wrong section...

I'm fucking tired of sellers who configured auto-buy(which need seller's interaction after purchase) for their product and not come online for a long time. They have no messengers except of PM on HF, and you can't communicate with them to receive your stuff which you just bought.

People buy product, and they want to receive it today(maximum in 3 days), but not months.

I know that's stupid thread, but anyway I would like to post this for those people who going to buy some stuff here. Be aware of inactive sellers with auto-buy! First of all you should check communication with seller, approve product delivery terms, and just then pay money.

I paid, and now I have no money, nor products.

Hope my post will read not only buyers, but also sellers.

SoccerBet - August 31, 2017, 4:14 am

Can you tell us which product did you bought?

The Godfather - August 31, 2017, 4:15 am

(Aug 31, 2017 04:13 AM)kazantip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey there.

Sorry if i'm posting in wrong section...

I'm fucking tired of sellers who configured auto-buy(which need seller's interaction after purchase) for their product and not come online for a long time. They have no messengers except of PM on HF, and you can't communicate with them to receive your stuff which you just bought.

People buy product, and they want to receive it today(maximum in 3 days), but not months.

I know that's stupid thread, but anyway I would like to post this for those people who going to buy some stuff here. Be aware of inactive sellers with auto-buy! First of all you should check communication with seller, approve product delivery terms, and just then pay money.

I paid, and now I have no money, nor products.

Hope my post will read not only buyers, but also sellers.

99% of all sellers come on everyday lol what do you mean

tesla-hobbit - August 31, 2017, 4:39 am

(Aug 31, 2017 04:14 AM)Jaroz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you tell us which product did you bought?

Sorry, I extremely want to post them here, but I don't like to spoil their reputation. Looped circle...

Let this thread will be for the new buyers. Or if people want, they could post here sellers who doing like mine.

I will try to be patient and wait a one more month ...

Pre-eminent - August 31, 2017, 4:40 am

You could PM the seller before buying the product or check their last visit on their profile.

test - August 31, 2017, 4:41 am

Don't buy from them then, simple. Do a little inspection of the sellers profile to see when they were last online and their most recent posting activity. I rarely use autobuy services but when I do I have no issues on the sellers behalf.

SIM-82498 - August 31, 2017, 4:41 am

Don't buy without reading the recent posts on the thread or visiting the sellers profile, easy.

tesla-hobbit - August 31, 2017, 4:42 am

(Aug 31, 2017 04:15 AM)The Godfather Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 99% of all sellers come on everyday lol what do you mean well, most of buyers yes, but i'm stuck with two of them.

Other auto-buy products I have received in time.

MonetizeMaster - August 31, 2017, 4:48 am you should contact the seller before sending any payment.

tesla-hobbit - August 31, 2017, 4:59 am

(Aug 31, 2017 04:48 AM)animatr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) you should contact the seller before sending any payment.

exactly, mea culpa...Now I'm experienced buyer and understand this :P

(Aug 31, 2017 04:40 AM)WolfBoss Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You could PM the seller before buying the product or check their last visit on their profile.

The problem is some of them communicating only thru their sites(onion). The seller's site with support system was working, profile is active ~7-8 days. Then site disappeared and they don't appearing online on HF. Though they are trustful sellers and my money not disappear, so this will just waste my time, since I needed product now, not in a half of year.

Maybe ask sellers to not allocate autobuy products on HF without any communication with them(PM is the last hope i'd say, not a way to communicate with seller).

But I know, that's my mistake. I just wanted newbies read it, and probably suggest any additional rules for sellers who like to take a long vacations on HF ;) For example take off product from auto-buy if they can't communicate with buyer.

SIM-82498 - August 31, 2017, 5:01 am

(Aug 31, 2017 04:59 AM)kazantip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) exactly, mea culpa...Now I'm experienced buyer and understand this :P

The problem is some of them communicating only thru their sites(onion). The seller's site with support system was working, profile is active ~7-8 days. Then site disappeared and they don't appearing online on HF. Though they are trustful sellers and my money not disappear, so this will just waste my time, since I needed product now, not in a half of year.

Maybe ask sellers to not allocate autobuy products on HF without any communication with them(PM is the last hope i'd say, not a way to communicate with seller).

But I know, that's my mistake. I just wanted newbies read it, and probably suggest any additional rules for sellers who like to take a long vacations on HF ;) For example take off product from auto-buy if they can't communicate with buyer.

r u talkin about zyklon

tesla-hobbit - August 31, 2017, 5:05 am

(Aug 31, 2017 05:01 AM)Dervie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) r u talkin about zyklon maybe :P

Tied - August 31, 2017, 5:16 am

Unless the product is something that can be automatically delivered, I wouldn't use auto buy before contacting seller