Looking for a plugin that is a easy to use drag n drop form building plugin. Where i can decide myself where to output the data. For example if i have in the form a textbox called name. I want to call out the result in a page of my choice.
for example

Hello, My name is <datafromform> i have zero knowledge when it comes to wordpress so not sure if this is plugin exists or.

Why you need that? simply build form using drag and drop building and put in on your page using shortcode, some plugins also provide option to place PHP code in your page .php file, like if you want to setup at every footer or so on.

can you show a example more brief?

even if you can do an example on paper and just share screenshot so i can possibly help you better with more clear understanding.

You can PM me in case you don't want that to be public. Then i can help you.

OP needs to print the output of the forms into an HTML file, he isn't just looking for a form builder. He doesn't want to use scripts but only plugins if I understand.
