I'm still in the process of rebranding and there's stuff to change like my signature, logo and stuff, it's gonna take some time.

Looks good man, what did you use? Illustrator? Would look into colors and psychology and how it affects marketing if I was you though, will definitely help you know how to color and choose your colors of usage when creating an advertisement.

Thanks for the feedback mate, I used Adobe Photoshop.

Color-wise, I kinda went for what's working for my eye rather than going into psychology and such, though while I was working on it, I was kind of thinking of making it subtle and aggressive in terms of hitting it straight to the point.

It's clean and sleek, and simple.

I like.

I like it, but I feel like the bottom right is missing something to fill that extra space the other sections don't have.

Very clean and nice color scheme looks good

keep up the good work man

Looks very clean and modern my friend.

Love the colors you picked and the fonts. Great job.
