Thread: BitPicker.io Development Thread

Kill Joy - September 5, 2017, 5:19 pm

Hello everyone,

You can now be notified when BitPicker.io launches! <https://bitpicker.io>

I am the founder of BitPicker.io, which you can see the v1 release here. This is the development thread for BitPicker v2. I will be allowing a select few members to register on the new website for bug testing and feedback.

This all looks very well put together and is actually useful to me. You're doing something great Kill Joy.

Narrate - September 5, 2017, 7:23 pm

Best of luck with your site Kill Joy. Looks great.

SLY - September 6, 2017, 1:43 am

Posting to come back here, really want to see the future updates for this.
Good job.

Kill Joy - September 6, 2017, 10:18 am

Thanks everyone! The dashboard is getting a little rework right now to add a little portfolio option and coin prices.

This is a dope ass website my dude. Is it by any chance api oriented so developers can make shit with the data on your site?

News feature is coming along nice. It's completely unique and features over 150+ sources for over 200 currencies. Probably can get it done tomorrow. :)

VirtualFrost - September 17, 2017, 1:33 am

Is this going to be a site like altpocket but also have the features of what BitPicker currently has(of finding the best exchanges to get your coins at)?

Altpocket is just a portfolio. My website is all about tools and resources for investing. A portfolio is just a small part along with it, unlike Altpocket which is only based on portfolio tracking. ;)

Ah okay, the portolio and what you already have on bitpicker now was all I noticed. Going to keep an eye on this.

Thanks, me too. That Mr. Dark guy was pretty shitty. ?

Twitter feeds being worked on. After that.. maybe a couple of more things. Then finalizing.. then release hopefully within 2 weeks from now.

Eat a bag of dicks, I told you I'm only good with front-end. Was willing to learn back end for my friend KJ

Revurb - September 22, 2017, 12:57 am

Well done KJ on your new platform & development so far.

The website looks really pleasant & I plan to adopt the portfolio feature. Coininventory lacks the option to layer sales (ie list sales of 1 individual purchase if sold at different amounts).

Yin Yang - September 22, 2017, 2:24 pm

Pretty neat site KJ. I'm going to register.
