Thread: Leak forums Legal Problem Going To Effect Hack Forums?

Vince Nizza - September 8, 2017, 6:13 am

Im not really advertising LF.. But there is a issue with LF i wonder i this would happen to effect HF now or in the future?

Reason being i came from lf to stroll over here one of the reasons this. the "leak" section or whatever i clicked says this

"Sectors removed til cleaned up"

"Edit September:

I cannot legally allow most of the content (Cracking, accounts, tools to hack with) and I don't have chances so it's just too hard to deal with it for now hence they hasn't been a update to this as I really don't want to touch it due to the massive problems that is behind it, nor would you in my position after 4 years."

Think this could happen to HF?

Edit : I think the owner of that site goes by "cake" pretty sure he is US resident. So this is US law. And so is this site?

Get out of here skid with your leaks

Anything posted on hackforums is on legal side without shit like leaks, cracks and more.

TF are you on about ? Lol LF and HF all have the same things...

Cracking tools, Hacking tools etc...

edit :

How to be a skid

Step 1. Call people skids you know nothing about.

such disrespect to human race for being smart

HF strictly doesn't allow anything on illegal or falling into blackhat activity stuff including leaking software and other crap or cracking it without owner permission.

LF allows all that and are in legal problems because that

I expect him visiting leak tab wanting only to get paid cracked RATS or any other software without actually learning anything while using it.

Wow you must be 12.

You realize "leaking" a software isnt illegal unless they own copyrights to the work. Which 99.9999% of HF softwares have no legal protection...

Yet "cracking" or selling accounts that are not yours is illegal. So these netflix/UFC shops on HF are not allowed

GG no re

No, there is a reason Omni complies when he gets a request about user info from feds.

This website is his livelihood and is part of the reason he can provide for his family. He isn't going to risk that for a few members.

Yea i believe that. But what laws you think LF dont follow that HF does or whatever?

Almost anything on HF sold has TOS you agree to including not to try share, crack, leak in any way sold product unless given permission from product owner

I agree selling and cracking accounts is ilegal so thats a problem for LF not HF

Of course they could go after the user, but why not the site in general.

Yea that's a HF ToS you realize HF ToS is not the law right? lmao

May not be allowed to be posted on shite. Omni has jurisdiction on his site thats it. Someone could post every HF program cracked off site. Not a damn thing Omni or the seller could do.

He doesn't most of the time (if I'm right)

I'm sure I read somewhere that he'd only give information if they pull out a direct order.

You realize the forum is controlled so it's the law for the forum?

the HF tos applies inside HF and for all it's users.

You're right on the offsite thing, anything what happens offsite is not associated with HF.

Yea metaphorically what omni says is the law here.. But in reality its not the law by any means (obviously)

The only law on this site are the same laws that the US has for every other site...

Example : Omni could say no pictures of charlie sheen allowed here in his ToS...

Yea thats ToS on HF.. But its not illegal Lol

Yea thats ToS on HF.. But its not illegal Loll think there's a difference between laws and rules. The punishments are much different and have different impacts upon the user. I also don't think HF will be affected by anything happening elsewhere. The programs on this site usually state that they are for educational use etc. Meaning what you do with them is up to you.

Said forum would leak legitimate software, cracked software from legitimate companies, that is illegal, the guy earlier was correct, HF does not allow such activity, but Said Forum allowed the leaks of PAID software from legitimate companies, hence the legal action.

It's obvious really

OH yea i didnt think about that... But there's another factor why its threat to HF...

Omni brags of how "i am not responsible" and other say he's not responsible for what people post? So can someone really legally punish a whole site or a admin for something illegally posted on there site thats against there rules?

I mean blackshades raided by FBI. But the same section is still up yea?

deadsh0t - September 8, 2017, 8:50 am

The fact with LF is that they provide sql dumps and configs for al sorts of cracking programmes you could argue about the account shops on hf but the fact remains that someone selling a few account will be far more tolerated/less punished then the people on LF selling/posting hacked databases with millions of stolen/hacked user data

Mewtwo - September 8, 2017, 8:51 am

Even offshore hosting doesn't mean he will get away with this.
