Thread: Need staff for anime streaming website

deadsh0t - September 8, 2017, 12:14 pm

So i host a anime streaming website after sorting out legal issues and talking to lawyers i have no problems any more however adding episodes is a huge work so i need some people to help me with that the website offers no annoying popups or ads in the videos

YERANUK - September 9, 2017, 3:02 am

If there is no ad revenue, then what is the point of the website?

Why are you doing this if there is plenty of mainstream streaming sites, and people who don't like the ones we have, probably just torrent.

lets take a big example anime-update.com the ads on the videos are so annoying and angering everytime you click it opens an ad i never said no ads at all but i said no ads on the videos or annoying popups.

Besides money making isn't the main objective here the main objective here is the project and making it big

I will be happy to help shoot me a pm.

severos - September 9, 2017, 11:14 am

do we have to upload manually? or can use links and the site would pull it?

Muggle - September 9, 2017, 12:11 pm

You've talked to lawyers and they've told you it's OK to pirate content? What type of lawyers are you speaking to? Saul Goodman?

Cool - September 9, 2017, 1:58 pm

Will help. Please send me more details about this over PM.

deadsh0t - September 10, 2017, 2:06 pm

I will send pms to all who wanna help tomorrow sorry for the delay

I dont upload anything i dont host anything on my server in my cojntry it is legal to link content that is freely available on the web

Most anime isn't free content though, its licensed and sold. Should check with a second lawyer. Oh and pm site link so I can bookmark.

alexbot - September 10, 2017, 11:05 pm

I'm interested in it too. Hope to hear from you soon.

Obstinato - September 10, 2017, 11:29 pm

Sounds illegal...

pm me, im interested

i will pm the site in a min and send everybopdy pms

However on the lawyer point im not talking about content thats free im talking about contents thats freely available and found if someone uploads a movie to youtube and i embed that movie on my website it is not illegal since it is not on my servers and anyone can find it however if i were to hack some anime studios server and take hosted episodes and embed them on my website it is considered illegal since i broke in somewhere to steal it and it was not freely easy available to public

DeathlyHollow - September 11, 2017, 8:20 am

Kinda curious about this, hit me with a pm.

"Sounds legal, i'm interested"

ronaldtrump - September 11, 2017, 1:26 pm

Interested, would like to help!

hownerd - September 11, 2017, 10:33 pm

send me the link, i also got some good sources if you need more to get your videos from. also manga sources

Omtism - September 12, 2017, 7:52 pm

99.9% sure modern sites don't have people manually adding episodes they have a script to do it for them.

N1ghtm4re - September 13, 2017, 1:59 pm

I'd give it a try, why not.

illuminati? - September 13, 2017, 2:02 pm

I'm very interested, definitely send me a pm.

ReganMah - September 13, 2017, 4:32 pm

I'm interested but could you give me more details about this and how the process works? Like do we download the video then upload it?

HuntedCS - September 13, 2017, 4:32 pm

I am interested in joining the team, if you can confirm any legal statuses. ?

You just link to content freely available on other websites without annoying ad popups on videos.

@Op idk if you still need help but I'd be interested.

Genoboy - September 15, 2017, 10:31 pm

Highly interested, drop me a pm for the details ?

Lord Seventh - September 16, 2017, 3:42 am galvomegatron - September 17, 2017, 3:37 pm

What are you looking for as far as positions.

NYANxCAT - September 17, 2017, 3:43 pm

Interesting.. PM with details I like new stuff in my life.

(((I own a live stream website already :)))

rem. - September 17, 2017, 5:02 pm

I'm interested in helping run a anime site! You can PM me at any time! I'm under a PM reply lock however, so if you have Discord and the such reply with that and we'll discuss more there! Cheers!
