

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Silver is such a bigger hellhole than bronze.

IWrath - September 9, 2017, 11:21 pm

I finally carried myself out after starting to main Diana and found myself in something I can't even describe lol.

I literally get stuck with the following people pretty much nonstop.

1.) The blind trade player.

This guy has it stuck in his head that because he's first pick he can take someones elses champ and expect the trade to happen. (With no warning, or person saying no.)

2.) The newbie.

This is the guy with 20 games played and a 20% (I've had someone with 18% at the lowest) win rate when mine is 51% Someone he got placed into silver and I got b4 at the start of the season.

3.) The legit toxic asshole.

One thing goes wrong and it's full out rage and quit mode. Yeah happens everywhere but I see this way to much right now.

test - September 9, 2017, 11:21 pm

That will happen in every elo until you reach about diamond. Get used to it.

IWrath - September 9, 2017, 11:57 pm

(Sep 9, 2017 11:21 PM)testaccountplsignore Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That will happen in every elo until you reach about diamond. Get used to it.

Naw fam.

I mean this is literally something nonstop right now for me.

I was in bronze for 300 games (I was mostly just trying to get fairly decent in every role before sticking to something) and can't say I experienced anything this bad, aside from your generally bad players and maybe something along these lines every now and then.

Right now though, I swear to god at least 1 out of 3 games, that might even be being generous contains one of these.

District - September 10, 2017, 12:49 am

It can't be happening every game, or even 1 out of 3 games. If you are a Silver player your fundamentals are lacking or your not playing the game the way it is supposed to be played. Your teams will be shit, sure. You may even argue your teammates are doing more things wrong than you but it is like that at every elo until you are like top 50. Trust that. Until you are the in the top percentage of players you wont find anybody in solo queue that is doing things correctly or playing without mistakes.

I admit there are a lot of dumb fuck trend riding kids in the game, but thats something we all deal with. Get good enough so you can just absolute shit on the enemy team yourself. Take the objectives yourself. It sounds hard to do but trust me it can be done, especially at lower elos. If you climbed from Bronze to Silver you obviously changed something and you've been doing something right, continue to look for little changes you can make that will make you a better player or benefit you throughout the lane phase/game.

iQuintennn - September 10, 2017, 2:33 am

I have one account in silver, and im intentionally toxic to teach them some lessons, my real account is somewhere in diamond (im a Draven main, also no tyler1 comparisons here, I've been playing him since I got destroyed by him in season 4) Silver is indeed worse, full of people who just got out of bronze or whatever and think their the shit.

The only way I got my account out of silver was to have a premade team with persons that could actually play.

Regret - September 10, 2017, 4:49 am

(Sep 9, 2017 11:21 PM)testaccountplsignore Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That will happen in every elo until you reach about diamond. Get used to it.

Diamond's even worse LOL

Lion - September 10, 2017, 5:29 am

Lol happens in every elo fam. I'm gold 1, and the famous one here is the Afker. You say ONE thing to someone, and they intentionally afk.

Ub3rGang - September 11, 2017, 11:04 pm

Gets even worse in GOLD bro...

NA Riven - September 12, 2017, 3:43 am

(Sep 9, 2017 11:21 PM)testaccountplsignore Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That will happen in every elo until you reach about diamond. Get used to it.

Diamond is the worst

And OP just mute them and dont flame them for losing the game because then you are as stuck as they are

Im toxic af and idc if someone leaves cuz I win way more games then I lose.

Tsukiri - September 12, 2017, 3:49 am

You don't get it, OP. The whole League of Legends community is a cancerous abomination.

Bronze, Silver and Gold -> People troll in ranked, feed all day, and try to make you angry if they don't like something. Flamers get banned, however trolls are allowed to do whatever they want and ruin the game.

Platinum -> People still suck, however, they somehow think they are actually skilled since they got better mechanics than the average silver.

This is the ELO where people will flame you if you get counterjungled, try to surrender once they lose lane (literally.. every game) and flame their asses off if you touch their fragile ego (they're all-knowing plats, after all).

Diamond -> Lower diamond is basically trash escaped from platinum by getting boosted or cheer luck. Higher diamond is where people actually understand the game and many of them don't really mind anymore. Reach this ELO, and you will be part of the 1% of the community that can enjoy the actual game without getting frustrated 99% of the games you play.

I'll give one tip to the people playing gold and below...
Buy Singed and master him. Learn how to proxy farm etc. And how to behave in teamfights. People have no clue on how to counter him and most of the time you will completely waste their time and make one or two enemies underleveled / useless.

Also, its fun because it doesnt matter if you die and it's just funny to see them chasing you while slowly dying.
Enjoy

boingboing24 - September 13, 2017, 7:10 pm

there's no elo heaven if that's what you are searching for

Examine - September 14, 2017, 4:17 am

I just got put in back to back games with the same Draven named "Reforming". You can imagine how that went lmfao