Hope someone worthy buys it.

This. This is the exact problem and why people don't like you as a group owner.

You say you will commit to the group but the second your attention shifts to something else you sell it off and repeat the whole process a month later.

This is why people are not interested in groups anymore. We need owners who will actually stick to a group and work their asses off for it.

Of course you are free to do whatever you want with your group. The rant above wasn't specifically aimed at you as it happens with most if not all groups.

I'm just pointing out what I think is the root of the problem when it comes to the lack of interest in groups by the community nowadays.

Im in it for da $$$, it sucks that more people cant afford groups to stop things like this, but money is power in this world. Here is a prime example.

This is why nobody is probably even going to buy this group. We really need owners who will actually stick to a group. You still could be a better and a hard working leader even if you would be in it for the money.

If groups here are just a business here then do what floats your boat.

In all honesty this is a really good deal for those with less money to get their hands on a group, nobody else is budging at $5,000 offers but Nex+ is looking for a quick sale, today preferably.

I don't see why y'all wanna lowball him cause he's Nex+ whenever he's already selling it cheap as hell, @Nex I'd suggest just junking this or having it moved to your SF then contacting those who posted offers on other groups.

I guess that's true. Do me a favor though, next time you buy a group, make sure you have double the money so that should you need more money 1 month after purchase, you can always use that extra money instead of selling of the group you just bought. Said situation would be more profitable for you as well as the community.

Good luck with the sale, should be easy as there are several interested buyers already.
