there goes your sales op, might as well give it to me for free then :) lol john kramer - September 14, 2017, 4:08 pm

just for clarify.... everything is public knowledge, but a thing is that you must study, filter, try, and lose time for make something togheter that really works and the 90% of the people are not able to do that even with years, ANOTHER thing is when someone spend a lot of time doing all this and gives a really profitable thing ready for eat... SO that's it.

But if someone want the scam that promise 90% of wins, this isn't the right place... it's full just out there...

An user just sales trashed you, and considering you were asking for money to start your trading campaing I don't think this is trustworthy or safe to buy knowing that what you're offering is just public knowledge.

what means "just sales trashed you"?

And, how much easy is say: you're offering just public knowledge... when all about trading, it's public knowledge, only a fool can think that who won in the trading, uses magic formulas.... here is about put togheter knowledge, hours wasted to try, try, try, try, study, try, study... until something profitable came out... so don't say it's all public knowledge, because it's not.

A teacher that teaches math, or history, must teach for free, because history and math are public knowledge? Here it's even more thn that, because i have found something that really works... in the trading win only who trade smart, little things make the difference between lose and win, so don't judge, and be respectful...

the Duck guy that is not able to do reviews? when reviews comes from a good knowledge of the matter and at least tests for see if a thing works or not?

You know what?In my opinion, he isn't a human, it's a sub-human lol, because he don't know things, but he thinks to have knowledge... so it's the worst species, do you know what i mean? lol my was a joking... but you are serious... "steal their money" what? if you are not able to understand the value of the strategy and the efforts behind that, it's no my fault, continue to just doing reviews in 1 hour, without testing... are you american? Because in europe everyone knows that the most part of reviewers in america are some kind of joke... in cinema, videogames, and all matters... because unfortunately they speak without qualifications, or without see a movie, play a game, or test a thing until the end.
