Thread: Unreliable service & runs away with project "Ranger." UID-3505513

M?xim - September 16, 2017, 4:18 pm

What was the deal?

Spoiler (Click to View)

> I hired Ranger. to write me password recoveries for my keylogger.

> We talk for 11 days.

> On the 11th day he tells me this. Which is translated into:

Quote:Ranger - Today at 12:22 AM

Yo, changed me a bit. I have other ideas for the library: n, would like to try the market: a my own products and see how far I come. Has already a half-finished, private-coded licensing system in C # and a server so it should not go too bad. Sorry because I wasted your time. Hope I helped you at least a bit. recoveries.

Basically: He will use the password recoveries that i hired him to write and use to make his own product instead. Leaving me empty handed.

Why am I making this community alert?

It's an unreliable service and he wasted 11 days. He even said it himself.

It is a really shitty situation. Never thought that a service could be that unreliable. I mean like, he could have sold me the password recoveries that i hired him to write and then use them himself afterwards? I wouldn't have cared.

Don't hire him, deal with caution.

It sucks. I hope that there are better services out there. If anyone of you have any recommendation (.NET services), please let me know. I would appreciate that.

Vitani - September 16, 2017, 4:19 pm

Damn. That's a pretty shitty thing of him to do. Thanks for making this Community Alert.

ka$h - September 16, 2017, 4:19 pm

It must be legit if it is coming from a mentor, thanks.

B?ker - September 16, 2017, 4:21 pm

Holy fuck thats scummy as shit. What a prick.

SIM-2875347 - September 16, 2017, 4:22 pm

That's definitely not a cool thing to do, don't waste that much of someones time and leave them completely empty handed just because you want to try your own thing.

Sorry that had to happen to you Maxim

Pretty much. Glad that am not delusional. Idk, shit happens and i'll find someone more reliable. It's just weird. He could have sold them to me and then used them himself, completely fine..

Ugh. Anyway. Thanks.

What would he even have helped you with? -dafuq...did I miss something...didn't he just leave you completely empty handed... what a dick.

I'm sorry for your loss, just feels bad man, if I would be any good at coding stuff like that then I would help you but no can do, don't "speak the language". :/

Froggy - September 16, 2017, 4:33 pm

Thankfully he didn't also run away with your money since you did not pay him yet. Smart on your part. It sucks that he would do this.

FamousHater - September 16, 2017, 4:36 pm

Yea seems like the norm these days kids claim they can code/program and in the end cant do shit

bunch of time wasters

Tbh I don't know. Can't have been anything big.

I mean we talked for 11 days regarding the recoveries he was writing. If he thinks that that is "help".. Sure. Lol.

I wanna have what ever he's smokin'. Jokes aside, either he's not capable of making the stuff he claims...or then he's just a greedy prick (which will be his own undoing). Beklagar :{

#Skyline - September 16, 2017, 4:51 pm

What a jerk, very unreliable service. I hope karma hits him.

Rhez - September 16, 2017, 5:42 pm

Woah. Why don't you check .NET Programming Section for background checking? I didn't even know that guy. ?

Anyway, that moves of Ranger is totally a dick. I hate time waster.

James Burnham - September 16, 2017, 7:14 pm

That is a bad way to conduct business. Freelancers shouldn't sacrifice professionalism for quick money.

I think HF needs a coding section in the marketplace. Maybe that will give incentive to members to learn how to code.

Not sure if it'll help. It's the mindset he had, that he would make more money off selling the recoveries as a product himself. Which is the absolute dickmove for so many reasons.

Ranger. - September 17, 2017, 4:37 am

Adding me to ignore list so that we can't resolve this? Kk lol.

Love how only one part of the log is showed and how you manipulated 1 of the 20 things that I said into your favor. I don't blame you though, I blame most of these Americans. Goes to show how vulnerable most of them are to fake news if they can't do proper source criticism.

Removed from ignore list.

But honestly, what did you expect? Of course i did, you screwed me over big time.

If you are interested in resolving? By all means! My inbox is open!

Not sure why you're mentioning a whole country about this when it's most definitely your fault for "coding" a product and deciding to sell it for yourself afterwards when you could've decided that later and not while doing a job for someone. Also, if you're going to say it fake news you could post the whole conversation not like it's gonna do anything in the end since you did a dick move but w.e

Yeah great business man, insults 70% of the HF population which is American. If you do business the way you want to then I promise you won't get very far on HF; nor will anyone deal with you. I'd recommend following the demands of your customer base or at least not waste almost half a months worth of someone's time to "try something out".

Prawnster - September 17, 2017, 5:10 pm

So he took your un-original idea and said he's gonna do it himself?

And you felt like you had to open a CA instead of just dealing with it amongst yourselves?

Looks like you didn't read at all. He hired him to do a job for him and 11 days later he left him empty handed and was going to sell the product he coded for OP for himself. 11 days is a lot of time just to get nothing. He could've found another coder and had what he wanted completed in that time-frame.

I did read the whole thread and I saw that we weren't shown every bit of info from this deal. All we got was a single SS of a HF PM as well as a dodgy quote? The guy that is being accused also mentioned the lack of further proof, I believe lol

You all jump on the bandwagon of "fuck you" too easily... Could we see some more proof of what makes this CA worthy, OP? I don't think him not wanting to work with you is worth making a CA over lmao

Admittedly, he's a bit of a head-ass for taking 11 days to tell you that he doesn't wanna work with you, but he apologized for that. Would have been better to just take it as a learning experience imo. But again, if there is more proof that shows he intentionally fucked you and used you for ideas or some shit, then that would change my views obviously.

"hired" , I don't see any proof of transactions being done. Even if that's a dick move, he had all the rights to "waste" @op's time. If you pay peanuts, expect monkeys m8 ..

Of course i tried to. But his mind was set on releasing his own product instead of completing our deal.

Tsk. What did you think.

Nevertheless, because of this thread, he got interested in resolving it and completing the deal. It served it's purpose well. If it gets resolved i will update, otherwise it remains as a community alert.

Edit: Rude guy... Been a hell with him but he resolved it, finally.
