Thread: Looking for chill destiny 2 players.

Vladalice - September 17, 2017, 10:18 am

Looking for some chill destiny 2 players. I'm 280 power on my hunter currently and i am soon going to start on my other profiles. Would be cool to have a few people to run public events and strikes/raids with. HMU if you are down.

Restarting - September 17, 2017, 8:07 pm

was you gt op im down to play with u

Yeah I mean its like destiny 1.5

Cap is light lvl 305 atm but will end up going to 350 with other activities and dlc

It is fun for sure but I know a lot that do not enjoy the PVP.

Yeah I mean to feel like its worth the $60 you have to enjoy the PVE and PVP content and everything involved. I enjoy everything bungie throws at me and I think it is a really polished game.

PVE content is somewhat challenging too with raids and need good communication.

Trust me the PvP community gets sweaaaaaaty, reminds me of old H3 days putting in work. Especially in trials.

Yeah but even trials is a joke right now. You can get 6 wins and match people on their 1st game of trials ever.
I went flawless on all 3 chars in the first day.

Trials has never really been difficult, the hardest part is finding people who can consistency perform well. Of course toy get games where stacked teams meet other stacked teams, by far the best thing about destiny IMO.
