

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Will resetting Iphone 7 really reset it?

growtopiack - September 21, 2017, 11:00 am

I think resetting it will not reset it because it's apple.

GoFlex - September 21, 2017, 11:09 am

Yes it will reset the iPhone.

Baby Groot - September 21, 2017, 11:10 am

This has to be the most stupidest question I have seen today.

Autowall - September 21, 2017, 11:10 am

(Sep 21, 2017 11:10 AM)Baby Groot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This has to be the most stupidest question I have seen today.

+1 on this I don't understand how someone could be this stupid.

growtopiack - September 21, 2017, 11:13 am

I want to create new apple ID. I think my old hacked apple ID will come back after I reset.

THC - September 21, 2017, 11:15 am

Although it seems like op may be mentally deficient in some way, I'll go into this.

Resetting an iPhone will remove most of the user data from it. That means stuff like music, apps, etc. I'm pretty sure that on Apple devices (I know Google paired Android's do this for sure) the iCloud will remain intact on the device until manually removed to prevent people from whipping stolen phones and selling them.

Some info about the phone will not change, such as the imei etc.

growtopiack - September 21, 2017, 11:20 am

(Sep 21, 2017 11:15 AM)M.D. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Although it seems like op may be mentally deficient in some way, I'll go into this.

Resetting an iPhone will remove most of the user data from it. That means stuff like music, apps, etc. I'm pretty sure that on Apple devices (I know Google paired Android's do this for sure) the iCloud will remain intact on the device until manually removed to prevent people from whipping stolen phones and selling them.

Some info about the phone will not change, such as the imei etc.

How to manually remove it?

GoFlex - September 21, 2017, 11:20 am

(Sep 21, 2017 11:13 AM)growtopiack Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I want to create new apple ID. I think my old hacked apple ID will come back after I reset. Reset it and see if it will allow you.

THC - September 21, 2017, 11:22 am

(Sep 21, 2017 11:20 AM)growtopiack Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How to manually remove it?

You'll need the login. Go to settings, there should be an option to disconnect iCloud from this device. I'm not too familiar with apple so apologies.

Imorra - September 21, 2017, 12:25 pm

If there is an iCloud account linked, it will ask for the password before resetting it. If you don't insert the password, the reset process won't start.

Once the process is finished, the phone is totally wiped, so the iCloud account won't be connected anymore.