

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Insert generic hello

Tehpwner375 - September 22, 2017, 10:35 am

Hello HF! I am a new member to this humble community of people just learning the art of hacking. I am of course a noob. I am familiar with various concepts and buzzwords but hope to learn a little of everything. I am fascinated with the complicated world of hacking and looking to do this as a fun little hobby. I've mostly been reading the basic concepts of things such as reverse engineering, hacking of simple programs, and even the Linux command line over at overthewire. I'm looking for new projects and challenges to further my own knowledge and learn from previous hackers such as Phineas fisher. I so far have programmed jack-diddly but have taken classes on Java and C when I was in college and even started learning web development on the side. I hope to learn from everyone and perhaps join groups or make new friends. Please feel free to message me about anything whether you wanna talk about various haxz or just wanna talk feel free. ?

Obdurate - September 22, 2017, 10:04 pm

(Sep 22, 2017 10:35 AM)Tehpwner375 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

Hello HF! I am a new member to this humble community of people just learning the art of hacking. I am of course a noob. I am familiar with various concepts and buzzwords but hope to learn a little of everything. I am fascinated with the complicated world of hacking and looking to do this as a fun little hobby. I've mostly been reading the basic concepts of things such as reverse engineering, hacking of simple programs, and even the Linux command line over at overthewire. I'm looking for new projects and challenges to further my own knowledge and learn from previous hackers such as Phineas fisher. I so far have programmed jack-diddly but have taken classes on Java and C when I was in college and even started learning web development on the side. I hope to learn from everyone and perhaps join groups or make new friends. Please feel free to message me about anything whether you wanna talk about various haxz or just wanna talk feel free. ?

That font hurts my eyes

NinjaLeaks - September 22, 2017, 10:06 pm

Hey, welcome to Hf, read Help Docs, yadiyadiya... enjoy your stay lol