Malmo are heavy favourites anyways. Easy money? Maybe if you want to drop a decent bit of money on it, but then again it is the same with most heavy favourites in any type of betting, horses, football etc..

PSG should've been an easy bet. Come on now.

GloryToBe - September 27, 2017, 2:16 pm

Both teams did not score for PSG - Bayern Munich, that was a risky bet and you shouldn't be putting bets like that out.

How is that a risky bet? Both team have great offensive players. When was it last time Bayern munich left a pitch without scoring a goal? Dont tell me what to put and what to not put. This is my picks no one force anyone to take em.

Well Bayern didn't really play well and we already knew beforehand that PSG had better players than Bayern. Both teams did have a chance to get a goal but analysis is hard because you're relying on both teams to score. Also PSG was on their home grounds.

Sweden won their game. If Netherlands has to get a chance to advance to World cup they have to beat Belarus with a lot of goals because Sweden can lose against Netherlands in the last game and advance because they have scored more goals. So this is a oppurtunity for Netherlands to take in some goals against Sweden if they beat this shit country Belarus.

Sweden beat Belarus 0-4 away. Netherlands has better players than Sweden and it is now or never.

Both of the teams has conceded a lot of goals at the beginning of the season. I think its time for both team to focus on the defence. Both teams has also two great goaltenders.

Here is the tripple for tonights NHL games.

Chicago Blackhawks - Minnesota (Blackhawks to win 2.02)

San Jose Sharks - Buffalo (San Jose to win 1.92)

Nasville predators - Dallas (Filip Forsberg to make a point 1.61)

Remember to take all of these games including overtime and penaltys.

Biggest robbery ever. Chicago should win the game. Watch the highlights and you will understand what i mean by robbery. Hopefully San Jose can beat Buffalo then we have atleast 2 wins today. Getting sick of these fucking stupid referees.

This is seriously so fucking annoying...

Haha always play on the players i choose on the NHL to score a point or more. I always win there.

If that was what i wanted i would never tell you that im working for them. Im just doing my job there and make some money thats all. to win. If they knew that i would probably have a meeting about this. They only know that i have a website in Sweden where i give out picks and they wanted me to remove it. Well Djurgarden had their chances to win the game in the first half. Sirius went only on Counter attacks and scored both of their goals.

And btw Sirius is the shittest team in the league atm with 0 wins in their 8 last games while Djurgarden is one of the best with none loss in their 8 last games. Djurgarden is playing for the gold while Sirius is playing for nothing. This is the typical unluck i have.

This is like the Chicago game against Minnesota the other day.

Totally bullshit games.

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - October 15, 2017, 10:15 am

Im thinking of only giving out 1 preds/day i think that the winnings would be more if i did that. Finding 3-4 winning games isnt that easy.

NHL today i will find some point maker find a website that gives you the oppurtuinity to bet on "players to make a point or more!"

Making a change on my double.

Marseille to win 1.90

Inter to make over 5 corners 1.72

I think that Inter will win but its a derby everything can happen. For if i had to choose something on that game i would take Inter to win.

For tonights NHL games i have decided to only choose "Players to score a point since that has been succesfull for me with a 100% win rate"

Las Vegas - Boston (Brad Marchand to score a point 1.63)

With 30 seconds left of the game he made a assist! Marchand i love you

Yeah otherwise it would be

To make a goal and not to make a point :) + the odds would be much higher if only goals counted.

it is 100% legit. I use this bookie sometimes, but I've heard a lot of stories, that if you win very often then they limit your account.

Anyway, the bookie is legit and you can withdraw your money. They have many ways to withdraw money the live support is not rly good but they will give you an email and they will be "pro"

they give you the money max 5min after "the match" is finish

They played really good at 0-0 Vegas had litteraly nothing. This is the reason why is stick to "Players to score a point" instead of picking team as winners. NHL is like coinflipping sometimes.
