All search results on HF show a maximum of 25 pages.

So you'll only see 25 pages worth of posts if you're checking all of your posts.

Use the search function and select Find posts from any post date.

Most likely because we use MySQL which can only scale vertically aka just add more resources to a server and you cant shard it. So to make a search engine search millions of rows in seconds is going to need a lot of juice

Server resource usage would likely be ridiculous to make long queries for no good reason.
