Code I wasn't originally going to release this, but I felt like it served no purpose just sitting on my harddrive. In order to use this, you have to enter a new record into your HOSTS file on Windows (C:\Windows\system32\drivers\etc\HOSTS). The record looks like this: 127.0.0.1 api.rsibuddy.com

Ayy this is pretty sick, would recommend deleting it though because it's such a simple way to fix this.

I'd rather have some people see it and it gets patched in a while, rather than serving no purpose on my harddrive

There is not, it would have to be re-written

It's just super sketchy to use a cracked program in a game that's known for people hacking and scamming accounts for years.

the $2 to buy osbuddy is worth the money compared to this risk.

Yes it is, especially when downloading shareware from a forum revolving around hacking no doubt. Anyway, if you're feeling uneasy about it, you can download a tool called dnSpy and inspect the source code of it. Also I'll provide some virus scans here

A personal note; I don't infect people because I'm genuinely not interested in hacking people (I lost interest in such things years ago)

Pretty neat, gigajew. I have OSBuddy Pro myself but for members who don't want to fork out $8 a month, this is pretty nice.

Where do you live where OSBuddy Pro costs you $8 a month? The price is £2.50 which is about $3.35 so I have no idea where you got $8 a month from.

Hold on, investigating, it may have been patched. If anyone else is using the crack some feedback would be helpful.

Have Pro thanks to a generous user but this seems very useful to the RS section, thanks!

Seems pretty nice is OSBuddy a bot or just a client for fun?

It's a client. Started as a bot but the creator started worked for jagex is what I heard. Idk? But it's a client

Runemate. Tribot.

Unless you are using a private script botting gets you banned very very quickly.

IslahGang - December 27, 2017, 9:43 pm

easier to spend $2 on buying it lmao
