The accuracy is great. It's refreshing to see this stuff outside of Dribbble.

Thank you. I might join Dribbble one day. They are made in Photoshop because these are just for Web showcasing. Although I can trace them out into Illustrator when and if I need them done vector at some point.

Thread has been updated with three more sneakers. Aren't they adorable.

Lucio - September 26, 2017, 12:10 pm

Put something on fiverr, people would pay well for this imo

Thank you.

@Snipe; I don't know if I should give Fiverr a chance. I might look around the market first and see what's going on with it.

@Copywriter; I don't do tutorials because I'm a self-taught artist, just grabbing inspiration from here and there to learn something from thin air without the aid of any tutorials. You should do the same. Learning on your own is the best way to improve.

You actually learn a lot faster and develop yourself more keenly when you take notice and inspiration from other people. Art/Design should never occur in a vacuum.

I'm a fan of the second row but I wonder how these would look if you lowered the black point size by a point.

Connector - November 23, 2017, 9:39 am
