This isn't a token let alone a cryptocurrency.

This is a signal giving service.

For example here is a recent free signal we are closing in on:

Quick cash? I give out a lot of free signals and charge $15. Other services charge $100+ and give away my free signals to their premium users lol. Pure Investments can suck a dick so hop off my thread with your bullshit, I don't threaten my members only the competition that is bitch made :)

This user acts like he made millions of crypto when he only made $25k. Do not buy into Logic Mans group. He is a broke kid who made chump change so he thinks he rules the world and knows everything about crypto.

OP on the other hand has made me thousands with his other services so i can vouch that this user will make u money unlike Logic Man kid

Just by this reply alone people should be able to tell you are not a good person. People like you don't want to help people, you're just in to make money. If worse came to worse, I wouldn't be surprised if you scammed your own members, just saying.

Warning about 00100100 potentially bad intentions. Didn't want to post this and cause drama but he is constantly harassing my group for no reason.

He messaged me asking for membership, I told him that I am a bit skeptical allowing him to purchase membership due to the fact that he runs his own signal group (and I have the right to deny a purchase). He then became very hostile and started threatening in my free signals discord that he would leak all of our premium signals.

This is what he said following that PM:

He continues to make threats on discord when I want no interaction with him or his group:

This proves that his service is bad, clearly he can't make good signals if he is depending on leaking our signals to his group. User is very immature and persistent.
