Thread: [\[Free\] Direct-Service File Hosting : Direct Link Uploads](#)

CryptixHacking - September 29, 2017, 10:07 am

Direct-Service File Hosting is a service project I created to allow users to upload files for direct download linking.

You can check out the service here

Direct-Service File Hosting - Link 2
Direct-Service File Hosting - Link 3
Direct-Service File Hosting - Link 4

Direct-Service Hosting allows its users to upload files for remote download via direct linking. And allows for any type of file to be uploaded anything from exe files to mp4 files.

Let me know what you think or should add to the service, I plan to create a executable program for the service also if more users gain interest and a dedicated domain.

seems to be offline

also i would prefer using an tld domain instead of using clouddns subdomain or .tk

No its not offline thats just the DNS server from the .tk that kicked off and I do have a .com domain already but thanks for the input.

still accessible on multiple domains

If the project goes well and gets a decent amount of users then I will create a application for the service and a unique dedicated DNS and .com domain.

Due to user end request I have added the ability to delete and remove files you have uploaded to your account. So you can now upload and direct link your files and also delete files.
