Thread: CLICK HERE IF UR IN A BAND!! PLAY INSTRUMENTS

supertaser - September 29, 2017, 10:51 am

Joined this & due to my love of music I want to make my first thread on music.

I'm in a psych/indie/rock band in the U.K., we do plenty of gigs, we've got albums out and singles, merchandise, radio interviews and plays. And currently in the studio half way through a 16 track album.

Not here to self promo, but if you're interested I'll be happy to link you.

Reply whether you're in a band, or just love music. I want to hear what you guys get up to, link me to your bands & art. There must be plenty of you who play instruments or write crazy shit.

I'm a producer & DJ in the UK. Not quite the same though.

Of course it's the same, you're a musician. You use decks? Or stick to midi instruments?

Yeah I play drums in a band. We are on radio, pandora, spotify and all that jazz.

I use both mate, DDJ-SX2 when Im traveling and gigs what ever equipment is there, maybe NX2 with a DJM. As instruments go, I've not been too long into producing just using a Midi Keyboard.

I never played in a band, but I easily could be in one. I'm not bragging, but I'm just saying with my background in music, I can sure as hell be in one. My friend and I wanted to start one, but I had to move away for school. Electric guitar and classical piano. 6 and 16 years respectively.

I've been learning triangle since i was 6, and my parent sent me to many private lessons to master it. Got my Grade 7 certificate when i was 14, but had to focus on study, stopped playing ever since. Really miss the sound of a triangle.
