Thread: Whats your Saturday plan?

r0fleZ - September 29, 2017, 10:56 am

I'm proper looking forward to tomorrow because I've planned out having a big greasy Fry Up first thing in the morning, then around 11-12 starting on the beers at home, then heading towards a pub having a few more than watching my local football at a mental crazy stadium with singalongs.

Any of you lot already planned out your Saturday yet?

I never have plans, I have one today though.
Going to a park event with a group of friends.

going back home for the weekend to study, have an essay to write on some old city comedy from the 1500s.

other than that nothing else is really planned. friends are all busy, may take the time to instead brush up on some code or finally start learning c++

Sounds fun man!

Tomorrow is homecoming at my school. 10:30 parade, then football game, party at the house tonight.

Going to drink all day.

I'm probably just going to try and make some money online with either CPA or drop shipping.

Maybe play some CS or TF2.

I Dont Know - September 30, 2017, 1:36 am

I am staying in all day to browse the forum to see whats going on.

I get up every Saturday morning at 5:30 and commute for an hour and a half to some bullshit job where my jag-off boss expects me to kiss his balls all day just so I can afford to keep my ungrateful, screaming kids decked out in Dora the explorer shit and my wife up to her fat ass in self-help videos until the day I get up the courage to put a shotgun in my mouth.

Hopefully going to hang out with some new friends I've made in the past month at one of their cornfields later.

But for now, probably gonna edit some pictures, take some, eat a little, chill on the internet.

Have a good day everyone, stay safe and stay blessed ?
