(2-Q): You Stated above that I can get unlimited giftcards for any shop I want?

(2-A): No, not specifically. You can get unlimited giftcards for shops I have added to the program.

That's what this tool does.

It checks different giftcards automatically and save the ones with balance on it.

The developer is working hard on adding more modules at the moment.

I feel retarded but do you mean it checks random giftcards and adds the ones with balances does it like just guess random giftcard numbers or are the giftcards provided by the user in bulk as like a tool for sifting

It's a tool that'll check for more valid giftcards for a specific stores, but you'll need to provide 1 valid giftcard in order for it to work.

But don't worry. All valid giftcards are provided by Extrex :)

So what exactly does this do? Please elaborate.

My understand is that you provide it with a gift card code and it will then use that to guess codes in a similar format to that which you provided and then check their balances if they are valid? You really need to make it clearer as to what the program does.

Not a generator.

It's simply a tool that checks for Gift Cards with balance on them and then saves them automatically.

It's unlikely for people to get the same giftcards. But It is possible.

I mean, from what I understand, your program just finds the pattern in gift cards and then searches all the possible combinations to find one that has $ in it? Or ?

Bit more complicated then what you've stated, but I can guarantee that you do not need to Invest into anything else, beside paying for access to Recard ?

If I understood correctly, your software can read the gift card algorithm of the added stores? And then it keeps making up random codes and checking them until it's a hit?
