How to properly file a Deal Dispute in a few steps

It is not always that deals go as planned. Your last effort of trying to resolve a deal or warning the community about a particular user is by posting a Deal Dispute. My goal is to keep this thread short and straight forward - not making it unnecessarily lengthy.

How to proceed

Start with making a new thread in Deal Disputes.

Add your title using the template below.

Copy paste the template for the thread itself.

Adjust it to fit your case and situation.

Fill it in with information and proof.

Stay structured. And post it.

If you are upgraded, add it to the Deal Dispute Database.
Why? Because then it will appear on the scammers Trust Scan.

You need at least 50 quality posts in order to post links.
You can add a space in the link or add it within [code] tags.

You need neutral or positive rep to post your Deal Dispute
The Deal Dispute section is in the marketplace. Read about the Reputation System.

How do I find the UID?

Go to their profile and grab it from the link. "uid=3077324".

Title template (modify for your case)

Code Scammed by <Username> <UID> for <amount>

Thread template (modify for your case)

Code [font=Trebuchet MS][color=#00AAFF][b]Profile link[/b][color][font]
<url>

[font=Trebuchet MS][color=#00AAFF][b]Thread[/b][color][font]
<url>

[font=Trebuchet MS][color=#00AAFF][b]Contract[/b][color][font]
<url>

So this user had a... and the deal was that... but it turned out that.. this and that.

Section Rules

HF will not be held responsible for deals made by members. All deals at your own risk.

No posting of private data in text form. Screenshots related to deals allowed (paypal, PMS) only.

Do not contact staff about a deal dispute.

Any reputation you leave calling someone a scammer requires you to link to a deal dispute you've created.

Deal must have originated on HF and be tied to an HF member with a thread or PM.

Read Help Docs and stickies for additional information.

Upgraded members can also add an entry into the Deal Dispute Database.

Things to keep in mind

Keep it simple, otherwise people won't care to read.

Structure it well for users to easy understand the situation.

Present it in a way that will get people to read it and not just pass on it.
Having users confirming that the deal dispute is valid might help you getting it resolved.

Read DO NOT CONTACT STAFF and Scammer Reputations.

You should add how to find the UID. A surprising number of people posting DD's don't know how to find it.

FamousHater - September 29, 2017, 5:26 pm may also want to show non upgraded users how to post links since alot of them say i cannot post proof cause it wont allow me to.

good work on this. would be nice if omni stickied it in DD section

Both very good suggestions. This is an excellent thread, I hope it can be stickied in the actual Deal Dispute section as that is where it would make the most impact.

Thanks for this thread, very helpful information.

Always use common sense and research the user! Be safe everyone.

Agreed - one thing I would mention I know it's not related but maybe how to properly find past deal disputes? Would be nice to show new people I feel a lot fall crime to notorious scammers.

Hey thanks Funtela. Yeah, might look into that.

I think that if people post structured and clean deal disputes, more people will review it, vouch that it is valid and that might help the one who got scammed to have it resolved.

Tips for you people using Imgur, Gyazo, Lightshot and such to upload images for your deal disputes; don't.

They can easily be removed using removal requests.

My suggestion is to use ipixls.

Thx, You solved the mystery.

Today morning I woke up and got here to check the progress of dispute.

All imp screenshots were gone from imgur.

I had to upload them again and link the url's.

I shall now follow your advice to try ipixls.

Advise to people posting deal disputes.

Do not upload your images to Gyazo, Imgur, Lightshot, etc. They can be taken down really easily. Use <https://ipixls.net/> instead. Images there cannot be taken down.

turtle957 - May 17, 2018, 10:22 pm

Got scammed for 300$, new here, I got reply from admin explaining deals are at user risk, I understand their point of view

Question I have before I post scam report, is it allowed to publish virtual wallet address or not? I do not want any ban or warning, I want to play by the rules

If publishing that, even if the user create a new profile needs a new wallet, harder job for little scam games

How can I add Claimant Note after posting entry into deal dispute database tried to enter again and said already entered but i forgot to add Claimant Note ???

Lavish Living - July 21, 2018, 10:18 am

You should adjust the template now that ALL deal disputes require a contract.

Thank you so much for this guide, btw, excuse me for my ignorance but how do we reach a resolution if the other person doesn't give the money back?

The user who scammed me is acting as if nothing happened and browsing and posting on HF without any care or fear, how do we get rid of filthy scamming scums like these?

Is this just going to get ignored and let the user continue scamming other innocent members of the community?

An admin must notice the thread and close/ban the account if the dispute has a valid contract
