Thread: Getting Started? Simple tips for making money?

Aedan_ - September 30, 2017, 10:50 am

Hello,

I'm a young male from NY, and I have only 6 cents in PP and have not started with cryptocurrency whatsoever. I'm really looking to start making money, but I don't know where to begin. I legit have very limited skills, and I'm interested in learning skills.

If you guys have any tips on getting started on either HF, Gaming, or other areas where I can earn money, please let me know. I'm hoping to devote 100% of my time into this.

Thanks,
Aedan

My advice would be to start simple, with things that you know and then build off of it. E-whoring is a great place to start, learn to SE and you can make a decent amount for little risk.

them sent to me for whatever reason. Also, what's SE?

Yeah, Sonex has some legit stuff out there, I've enjoyed a few of his tutorials.

Other than that, take that 6 cents and start saving...can you get a job? Can you make a few hundred? :)

bruh you have to unpack the zip files. just right click and extract.

i suggest you ewhore, save as much money as you can for 2 years(since you're 13) and hopefully by that time you will know what to invest in.

At 13, your options can be pretty limited. I would just worry about having some sort of project to make money on the side, and then focus on the important things like school and an actual job.
