rsx - October 1, 2017, 8:41 pm

I was in minimum security for a month a little over a year ago.

Charged for spreading malware (specifically silent XMR miners) to a large number of computers.
Got all my XMR taken from me and had to pay $25,000.

Was a broke kid looking for some money, so instead of getting a job me and a couple friends broke into a business and robbed it. Smart idea right.

I've only been caught with 6 pills worth of MDMA before and got let off on a warning. I had to attend a 30 minute session with this guy who told me about how bad drugs were. They keep the incident on file for 7 years and if I stay clear of trouble until the 7 years is up, the file gets shredded.

And other time was 2 weeks ago. DWI. there for about 7 hours before leaving.

17 days in - 29.9k€ + interest (so all in all ~30k€ just for that)

Robbed a kiosk 3 times in the middle of the night. Cleared out their food n what ever cash they had (~35€ each time). TLDR: Got throw out from home when I was 15 yo...ran out of money just before I turned 18, didn't have any family nor friends or anything to turn to, not even the social workers would help me out...

Nowdays tho, the only thing I do is speeding and jaywalking.

So you earned 127,000 in total minus 10,000 they took from you and another 25,000 you had to pay in fines? so you were left with 92,000 USD in profits?

Tuxedo - October 2, 2017, 2:02 am

Been arrested and placed in a holding cell overnight for drunk and disorderly (don't drink almost an entire bottle of tequila and think it's a good idea to go out), let off with a broken finger from the cops and a $300 fine. I don't remember anything from that night, though luckily(?) was in a call with a friend and left the call going throughout the entire ordeal. Apparently they threatened to taser and spray me if I continued to resist. Luckily though, I was only charge with the drunk and disorderly which doesn't go on your record.

Here it's kinda the same, only you'll have to pay a lot for electronics. But drugs, liquour and food are fairly cheap. 2x market price. Phones also very cheap. TV's, game consoles and shit, are going to cost a lot more than 2x market value.

I've been hold for assault in juvi and robbery not long ago. But got released early, because of the lack of evidence.
