It is hard at first, especially for me since they just changed a bunch of things on it.

Currently number 1, common guys.

For the people starting: It's just buying and selling stocks, look around on the site for a few minutes.

Mr. Wall Street just called me, he has yet to confirm or deny your request.

Orchid - October 16, 2017, 7:25 am

I think this decision is justifiable, from now on, you are required to actively trade during this competition rather than investing $5k at the start and getting lucky that no one else is trying to win.

SIM-2875347 - December 3, 2017, 10:21 pm

Is this still active? Cause it looks like im gonna win by a little bit :P

Sadly it is a no, mainly because many players played the game one (maybe two times)

For example: Your last transaction was on 10/18.

I can't see it from here but I thought I had one from last week? I sold the one I had a loss on and bought AMZN.

I didn't see anything, I'll send a screenshot.

But there is no way it is justifiable if activity was not present. I even said that in an earlier post.

I placed 3rd place and I logged in two times...

Thrine - December 4, 2017, 1:03 pm

But what if my investment stratgey was to buy and hold rather than day trade

There still was no competition, if people would've been active I would've gladly given awards out but since there is a lack of members and active members it isn't justified in my opinion.

Social Engineer - December 6, 2017, 9:23 am

Something I would have 100% participated in if I saw this before. Shame not enough active contestants, was a change from the "post below and your post number is your selection" giveaways.
