Eclipse Information Thread

Who are the leaders?

Currently, Acosmism and myself are the only leaders of the group. As many of you know, Acosmism just recently purchased this group from Views. Fortunately, we ran through varying ideas that we would like the group to focalize on; it did not take long for us to come to a consensus that we feel other groups have not fulfilled nor will they in the future.

What are our goals?

With the above information being noted, we have decided to embark upon a journey that revolves around debate and spreading information. The group will recruit members that we feel are very present in the SRPP section, particularly those who have a presence of verifying their claims with bolstering data and studies. We will not be granting members access to the group based on our political stances, nor will we choose people solely because they align with our views. Similarly, we do not require that members be active in the SRPP section, we simply want to know that the member has passion behind their debates.

How can I join the group?

Access to the group is pretty simple; be active and intellectual within the SRPP section. With that being said, we will not be accepting members who just happen to start being active as soon as this thread is posted. We want members who genuinely take an interest in political discussion and debates -- we do not want to have members who act as though they are interested solely for a position in the group. It should be noted, too, that as of right now we will not be adding a high amount of members into the group.

What will be discussed within the group?

While we would love to see political discussion and world news within the group sub-forums, we are currently more focused on the presence of the group on the forum itself rather than within the group. We do intend on creating a Discord chat of the group members which can include any casual conversation. Within the group, though, we will allow virtually all forms of discussion and information sharing; members are welcome to post guides, tutorials, private information, etc. As an owner, Acosmism truly isn't picky in regards to what the discussions revolve around. Members are welcome to talk about anything ranging from new games, international news, new technology, etc.

Requirements (or lack thereof)Be Serious - It is important to us that members are serious in their interest in debate and political discussion. We don't want members who are only serious; however, please don't be a complete meme.

No Valid DDs - We do not want any members to have a valid deal dispute on them upon entering our group. Additionally, if a dispute is opened on a current member, they will be granted a designated time frame as discussed by myself and Acosmism to resolve.

Professionalism - When a debate is going on, it is important for our members to respect one another and not hurl insults. The same goes for the members of our group when debating in the SRPP section. We ask that you don't make a fool of yourself/the group.

Awesome - Going to PM you a question real quick.

Interesting, looking forward to seeing good things come from your group.

Orchid - October 4, 2017, 7:56 pm

This looks like it can really change HF for good, SRPP type groups always did well in my opinion!

Goodluck guys, I am sure this will takeoff

Who Soup - October 4, 2017, 7:58 pm

It seems like an interesting group. Thanks to Trump politics have never been more interesting.

Saltpeter - October 4, 2017, 7:59 pm

Could be a good idea, as long as no fights break out within the group of course.

GloryToBe - October 4, 2017, 8:00 pm

With recent events and debates involving serious subjects, I'm sure there is plenty of room for political discussion. Also, the idea to post guides, tutorials, private information, etc. is good as well.

Trappy - October 4, 2017, 8:03 pm

Very good to see a SRPP group pop up.

So much to debate and talk about under the current political climate, hope to see this group to great things.

If you can get yourself a group of members that can have serious debates that would be a top group for sure. It'd be nice to have discussions without kids simply telling you to fuck off without arguing against what you've proposed.

Romania and I have gone after each other several different times and I was even on his ignore list before receiving a PM out of the blue asking if i'd like to join the group.

Based on that, I wouldn't say it's a "you gotta know somebody" type of group.

We request that they be active. It isn't a requirement. It's evident your intellect isn't up to par though, we apologize. I'll translate it for you. It ISN'T required that people are active in that section; HOWEVER, they simply won't be recruited until the recruitment they submit an application. Daniel, for example, is extremely active in the section and was consequently handpicked by myself to join the group.

Essentially, it isn't required but if you wish to join, it's highly recommended.

We will not be adding people solely because we know them. The people we have chosen have a particular reason that they have been welcomed. As Daniel said, we disagreed on essentially every topic and hadn't been very well-acquainted. Regardless of that, I recognized his devotion to discussion while remaining professional and consistently offering an intellectual stance. While it doesn't align with my beliefs in the slightest, I still recognize that he is a great asset for the group.

It's a shame that Eclipse 1.0 and all of the previous SRPP groups such as Void, L'appel du vide, and Logic are going to be butchered by Eclipse 2.0. You can already tell it's not heading in the right direction when the group's own leadership do not meet their own requirements but instead have short tempers and resort to insulting others and wishing them harm when disagreed with. I recommend researching logical fallacies if you're going to run such a group.

We respect members who deserve/return the respect. You do not. We don't owe you anything. Worry about your "elite" group that hasn't contributed anything to the forum. We will continue to form our group and focus on debate/discussion. If you take everything out of the context, you can make it look bad. You aren't aware of the exchange/what was said towards me prior to those responses. Mind your own business. Your arrogance is depicted in the fact that you consider yourself an elite member of the forum. People do not respect how you obtained your group, nor does anyone think you are an elite.

I'll also note that, regardless of my problems with Oxid, he has been added to the group. Acosmism and I both think he is a valuable member. It's also ironic that your comments are coming because you don't like the neg that you received. Don't dish it if you aren't expecting to take it.

EDIT: Also, don't make the generalization of "leaders". Acosmism has yet to say anything. I have made those comments. I own them and have no issue with the fact that it was retaliation for comments made and attacks thrown my way. There is a difference between self-defense and blatant attacks because someone disagrees. Nonetheless, I know when to draw the line and when to give someone respect when it is deserved.

It isn't "bodying" a group when you take comments out of context and try to make someone into a villain for retaliating to equally as foul comments. Froggy has a chip on her shoulder because someone DONATED her a group. She considers herself an elite because someone DONATED her a group. While I see your point, agree to disagree. Our group has contributed 10x more than her group and we have just started.

The fact you're trying to compare out who's group has contributed more is the most incompetent thing I have ever heard in my entire life time. At this point, your group has just begun, there aren't any notable changes or impacts that your group has aided in, purely recruiting a few quality members with an above average IQ. I'm not even trying to cause a controversy or anything of that sort, I'm simply trying too state that it's way to early in the process to be comparing and contrasting group contribution towards the community as a whole. Nevertheless, I wish you the best of luck with your ventures.

That's a fair point. We have added numerous members that have and will continue to contribute to the SRPP section with their knowledge and varying viewpoints. I can confidently say that I have a different opinion than essentially everyone in the group at this point in time. Regardless, I was happy to welcome them to the group. That shows a sense of respect and dignity that Froggy has yet to show.

Hopefully you're right in regards to defeating you in a debate :).

Also, I am not perfect. I know that I have made comments in retaliation to other members. With that being said, I am toning it back on the insults. I went out of my way to contact Oxid and extend an olive branch. We were bashing each other non-stop; rather than continue it, we were mature and got over our differences. Since you decided to bring this to my thread, I'd like to respond here. Simply a defense/clearing of the issue at hand. Why is it that you are on your high-horse as though you haven't disrespected nor insulted fellow members? I barely looked through your history and found the following negs. More content was posted on your groups thread. If you pride yourself and your group in welcoming fellow members and respecting them/making a connection with them, why give out the following negs? I won't even bother linking the posts you've made that contrast the group intentions as well.

federali (61)Negative (-3): People who have no life will always try to start drama in others'. Jealousy doesn't look good on you "booboo."

Lrrr (685)Negative (-3): If only your opinion mattered to me

Marshmallow. (63)Negative (-3): How does it feel being a follower

Micasa_ (-29)Negative (-3): WOW! Another HF skid who can't even dox! Stop acting like you're top shit when you can't even do basic things. Stop threatening other HF members, you're completely harmless bro.

? BoxyBabee ? (-128)Negative (-3): congratulations on having paper thin skin. If you're gonna be on HF I suggest you toughen up a bit & grow up. Clearly you get mad over the Internet when you're taking the time to send hate mail to people LOL RoughLyfe (-20)Negative (-3): Your "logic" is flawed and retarded. You don't belong in the marketplace.

Purple BMX (1332)Negative (-3): I'm unsure how you're going to run a group when you can't even write your own threads.
