Hello guys, I'd like to discuss how I feel like in some places people just hate anime watchers. I don't know why but people tend to have extreme views on anime and either love it or hate it. At my school, most kids hate anime and think anyone who watches it is weird. I can somewhat understand where there feelings may come from, because we have this (LITERALLY) autistic kid who is obsessed with Naruto and has (at school gatherings) taken his earbuds and swung them like nunchunks and shouted "I WILL BE HOKAGE" until a teacher came over and stopped him. Often, by the people that know how much I watch anime tell me I'm a "fucking weird ass nigga" for watching anime. Honestly I feel like instead of a closet gay I'm a closet anime watcher.

Does anyone get similar experiences to this where they live?

It's true whoever watches amine is weird

DoubleRainbow - October 4, 2017, 5:24 pm

Hello guys, I'd like to discuss how I feel like in some places people just hate football watchers. I don't know why but people tend to have extreme views on football and either love it or hate it. At my school, most kids hate football and think anyone who watches it is weird. I can somewhat understand where there feelings may come from, because we have this (LITERALLY) autistic kid who is obsessed with Greenbay Packers and has (at school gatherings) taken his earbuds and swung them like footballs and shouted "I WILL BE SUPERBOWL CHAMP" until a teacher came over and stopped him. Often, by the people that know how much I watch football tell me I'm a "fucking weird ass nigga" for watching football. Honestly I feel like instead of a closet gay I'm a closet football watcher.

People hate shit and like other shit. Who cares.

Esdese - October 4, 2017, 5:28 pm

I've yet to meet anyone irl that treats me any different for watching anime. That holds true for the girls I hook up with/talk to. Honestly just don't be weird and like fuckin Naruto run everywhere and you'll be fine.

Yandere - October 4, 2017, 5:30 pm

I don't tell anyone IRL that I watch anime.

Well considering that where I live (America), 64% of people regularly watch professional football, that is a HIGHLY unlikely situation. Where do you live? I want to move there, seems like my kind of place.

I was just replacing the word anime with literally anything else. People like certain things and hate other things. Everyone has their own taste in media. You shouldn't care what others think about your hobbies. People will hate on anything.

Deany - October 4, 2017, 8:20 pm

I'm gonna be blunt. You can't force normals to accept your autistic habits (anime)
So, put on that mask and pretend you're one of them :)

YERANUK - October 4, 2017, 8:26 pm

It's because the average person is actually very tribalistic. Once they associate anime with something perceived as negative, they will hate it without any actual rationale.

It's the same way religious people are virulent towards homosexuals, or atheists.

It's just how people are.

Professor Pantsu - October 5, 2017, 8:26 am

I never see anyone make fun of people for liking anime in real life, it just seems like an internet thing. Some nerds just feel the need to make fun of other nerds to feel better about themselves.

Agramon - October 5, 2017, 3:46 pm

I'm a closet weeb so I'm seen as normal. Once you get out of school people will accept you more, but right now there's kids in high school who want to be kew1 so they judge and berate others for their hobbies.

Kuri - October 5, 2017, 3:53 pm

Back in the day maybe but times have changed its slowly becoming a norm.

tweety - October 6, 2017, 11:05 am

All weeps should burn in hell.

Greatest - October 6, 2017, 1:36 pm

Well telling people you're into paedophilia isn't a good thing.

Loli isn't a crime

Hunting Rifle - October 6, 2017, 3:03 pm

My friends know and they don't give a fuck because they are true friends.
My brother also watches anime.

Kuri - October 6, 2017, 3:15 pm

If you want to be a weeb then be a weeb to your fullest.

Tell your dad how you enjoy watching 4 year old animated girls and tell me what he thinks.

vouch for this user

Mad Man - October 7, 2017, 6:52 am

Yeah anime is definitely frowned upon where I live. It's like fucking a fat chick, it's all fun and games until your friends find out.

tweety - October 7, 2017, 4:35 pm

We should start a concentration camp for weeb.

Mafty Navue Erin - October 7, 2017, 8:14 pm

I was jumped by a bunch of bronies because I said I like anime :(Or maybe they were furies?

canine - October 7, 2017, 8:43 pm

Nobody rly cares if you watch anime. Most people around here watched adult swim as a young lad so they're familiar with stuff like inuyasha, bleach, naruto, dbz, w/e. I don't ever have to hide my power level but I usually won't talk to most people about anime because of my weird taste. Nobody knows what I'm talking about or cares when I name drop my shows ;_; become weird cause so many people did it. Also the weaboo jokes that went semi-viral made people just see anime as even more weird

And I always post episodes from anime on my snap and shit IDGAF if people think I'm a weed,nerd or whatever they wont fight me so they can just talk shit behind my back lmao

I guess Light Yagami would be the weeb version of Anne Frank.

Holy shit those furies are crazy. Cat ears and tails and dog ears are banned at my school for reason. I thought that furies were weeb but a lot of them have never watched anime, they just want to put cat ears on and go "MEOW!" the whole class period.

I post anime snaps daily and not a single person cares, I even get some snaps back asking what I'm watching and shit lol hentai is the best genre tho is it not?

Houtarou - October 9, 2017, 2:09 pm

My friends have always been pretty accepting of my anime-watching; but even if they weren't, who cares. I do what I want, doesn't matter what other people think.

Faith Connors - October 9, 2017, 3:11 pm literally as long as you arent a complete utter fucking autist and scream "NICO NICO NIIII" every time you fucking talk to someone then you're fine

even at my uni, i dont bring it up needlessly and dont associate with the actual anime autists "anime club" (its a fucking disaster there) and people just know me as the weeb in my res like people i dont know come up to me and say "oh, arent u that weeb from x?" x being my residence building name, and say oh, cool. and end of discussion.

some kid even came up and asked for my autograph. i literally dont know half these people but it made me famous. sure theres people who dont like anime but theres people i also dont like, doesnt mean i have to be an asshole vadoff - October 10, 2017, 5:49 am

Watching anime isn't weird. Obsessing about anime to the point you're altering your behavior is weird. This goes for anything.

Watch Game of Thrones? Cool. Start wearing chainmail under your shirt, add old english words like

"ye" and "hath" when you talk, and state you have 3-eyed raven prophecy powers? That's fucking weird, and I'd find you annoying.

Anime is pretty much mainstream at this point anyways. It's everywhere - cable, crunchyroll, youtube, netflix, hulu. Even my parents have seen some anime shows by now. Just don't act like a retard and you'll be fine.
