Thread: Trashing my thread and leaving a weird rep.

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - October 5, 2017, 8:01 am

So I just recently got a sales thrash on one of my threads, I got mad and told the user to fuck off. Now the user just put a "Refused to use a middleman deal with caution rep" We didnt even talk about doing a deal.

This violates Marketplace rules but not the Reputation Policy:

Marketplace Violation

Members are expected to be mature enough not to bash each other's sales threads. For a complete list of violations that fall under this, refer to this document. Below is a summary of the latter, which include the following: Any post or thread that violates the sectional rules of Marketplace sections; Bumping of your threads with poor posts such as "I am online" , "I am offering support" or "I am still selling"; Bumping of threads that are not yours with poor posts as mentioned above, as a support team member role; Discouraging a sale without proper reason; Pointing to the thread of competitors; Posting and deleting posts in order to bump threads (PBD); and Reviews copying the format used by the Reviewers.

So is this disallowed or should I just move on?

Btw this is the post he made

You should probably move on.

It is a shitty thing to do but there isn't anything in the Help Docs that specifically prohibit it.

People really need to stop crying over false and weird reps. The reputation system is clear on what is allowed and what is not.

Just dont want pepole to have a bad view of me. I would never say no to a middleman. I always advice members to use middlemans.

Yes, stop crying and move on.

"Follow his tips if you want to lose money. Stupid asshole."

Thats sales trashing.

In his defense he is giving this away and people don't have to follow his methods they have a choice to plus its under free giveaways its not like he's selling it.

This isn't a sales thread since you're giving picks for free. Anyways I edited that part out.

People should still know his win rate and odds, there's nothing wrong with that.

Sorry I hurt your feelings, it accurately describes the way he's behaving though.

Want to make this clear for pepole. I reacted to his post because this member are sending me pms a lot asking if his games are good and if i could help him choose games. When i help him choose games he always reply with a bad attitude like "I dont need your opinions" why the hell do you message me if you dont need my opinions? This member has some weird problems. I accepted the rep and moved on.

Meh I just thing its up to luck but I don't know much about sports betting, but I do know people used to use scripts on stuff like Bustabit saying their method would make you more money but its still a gamble you might lose the money it's not %100 profit if they are following him they better only put money they are prepared to lose or gain.

You need to move on. The user did not violate any policies. In addition, your thread is not a sales thread.

We recommend you take the time to read the HF Help Documents section. The answer to your questions should be contained in there.

I asked for an opinion on a game as I was asking multiple people about it.
