

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: HTML & CSS Question

x_Terminal - October 5, 2017, 12:51 pm

I'm about to start learning html is html5 and html the same thing?

is it better to start learning html or html5? same with css do I start learning css or css3? ?

C0rdyc3p5 - October 5, 2017, 1:16 pm

HTML5 is just the next version of HTML, like CSS3 is the next version of CSS. It's like saying which Windows is the best between Win 7 and Win 10. It's just newer and you have more function. The only cons is that if the person browsing your website is on Window 2000 with IE 4, your CSS3 and HTML5 tags will not be recognised and some functions will not work. But as essentially, almost everything will work.

x_Terminal - October 5, 2017, 2:22 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 01:16 PM)C0rdyc3p5 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) HTML5 is just the next version of HTML, like CSS3 is the next version of CSS. It's like saying which Windows is the best between Win 7 and Win 10. It's just newer and you have more function. The only cons is that if the person browsing your website is on Window 2000 with IE 4, your CSS3 and HTML5 tags will not be recognised and some functions will not work. But as essentially, almost everything will work.

should start learning HTML or HTML5? from scratch.

Stixx - October 5, 2017, 2:24 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 01:16 PM)C0rdyc3p5 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) HTML5 is just the next version of HTML, like CSS3 is the next version of CSS. It's like saying which Windows is the best between Win 7 and Win 10. It's just newer and you have more function. The only cons is that if the person browsing your website is on Window 2000 with IE 4, your CSS3 and HTML5 tags will not be recognised and some functions will not work. But as essentially, almost everything will work.

(Oct 5, 2017 02:22 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) should start learning HTML or HTML5? from scratch.

Learn HTML5

The only people who still use Internet Explorer 4 are grandmas or people making fun of it

Charger - October 5, 2017, 2:24 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:22 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) should start learning HTML or HTML5? from scratch.

You will learn HTML by learning HTML5.

Nachfolger - October 5, 2017, 2:25 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:22 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) should start learning HTML or HTML5? from scratch. HTML5 just has more elements really. Almost all of the browsers will support HTML5, there is NO reason to ignore HTML5 while learning HTML. Doesn't make any sense.

NOTHING MATTERS - October 5, 2017, 2:25 pm

I'm just gonna leave this here. <https://freecodecamp.com>

x_Terminal - October 5, 2017, 2:27 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:24 PM)Charger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You will learn HTML by learning HTML5.

so like I know nothing then just learn html5 is ok?

Nachfolger - October 5, 2017, 2:28 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:27 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so like I know nothing then just learn html5 is ok?
Dude HTML & HTML5 are basically the same thing. You're overcomplicating this whole thing.

HTML5 = HTML. Just stick to this methodology.

Stixx - October 5, 2017, 2:29 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:27 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so like I know nothing then just learn html5 is ok?
Most tutorials will teach you concepts that are in both HTML and HTML5

Just look up HTML tutorial and start soaking it in

x_Terminal - October 5, 2017, 2:29 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:28 PM)Nachfolger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dude HTML & HTML5 are basically the same thing.
You're overcomplicating this whole thing.

HTML5 = HTML.

so its ok to learn html? then I'm html5 master?

Nachfolger - October 5, 2017, 2:30 pm

(Oct 5, 2017 02:29 PM)x_Terminal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so its ok to learn html? then I'm html5 master?
You're triggering me.