

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Start a Youtube Channel?

d1r7yd4n - October 9, 2017, 7:51 pm

My bro has been egging me on to start a Youtube channel since I have the capability to. He always talks about making money off of Youtube. Which I know is very well possible, but its not just as easy as posting a click bait video that a million people will watch and gaining funds through ad-views. (As he puts it)

If I were to start a Youtube channel, it'd be first a vlog. Since I do skateboard and am usually a pretty outgoing personality, I think my videos would be interesting enough for the average bored person to watch.

Actually now that I think of it, since my homie is the one who wants this whole thing started up so bad, I think its only fair to have him in my first video. Finally gonna record one of our freestyle sessions ?

Cagey - October 9, 2017, 9:13 pm

Make your first video and we can tell you if you'll last.

I don't suggest clickbait you can get strikes for that and your account removed, at least mine did jobi - October 9, 2017, 9:21 pm

(Oct 9, 2017 07:51 PM)d1r7yd4n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) but its not just as easy as posting a click bait video that a million people will watch and gaining funds through ad-views.
it is that easy bro, but if you are trying to make a personal channel, find an actual reason (purpose) to keep making videos it'll make it easier for you mentally

Invincible - October 9, 2017, 11:01 pm

If making money is the sole reason you are starting a Youtube channel then don't.

YouTube revenue has gone to shit and only people with 100+ subs on niche channels survive because of sponsorships.

Killy - October 9, 2017, 11:14 pm

if you want to make money with proper click bait then you have to do your research think about what the people are looking for.
trust me , i have a channel mainly for making $ whydidigetbanned - October 10, 2017, 1:22 am goodluck competing with the other ones that already exist.

Cagey - October 10, 2017, 1:31 am

(Oct 10, 2017 01:22 AM)whydidigetbanned Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) goodluck competing with the other ones that already exist.

People watch for personality mainly not as much the content.

Excalibur' - October 10, 2017, 3:32 am

Let us know when you make one, we can give our opinions! :D

SLY - October 10, 2017, 3:39 am

I advice you not to Advertise too much on your YT it will chase viewers away OP.

jobi - October 10, 2017, 3:46 am

(Oct 10, 2017 03:39 AM)SLYjnr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I advice you not to Advertise too much on your YT it will chase viewers away OP.

nah bro, make every video 10 minutes+ and put about 10-15 ads one for every minute.

trust me, im a dentist.

SLY - October 10, 2017, 3:50 am

(Oct 10, 2017 03:46 AM)JIIIN Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) nah bro, make every video 10 minutes+ and put about 10-15 ads one for every minute.

trust me, im a dentist.

Ok OP i advice you do this! He is a dentist?.

Jimmie - October 10, 2017, 3:56 am

Making money on youtube isn't easy and the chances of you getting big is about 1 percent.

selef - October 10, 2017, 4:39 am

+1 to the guy above.

It was hard enough with the normal add revenue, let alone with the adpocalypse now.

Anyway I wouldn't say don't start making video's, I mean sure for fun it's okay.

Just don't aspect to make a lot of money mate, who knows maybe after years of experience the new Roman Atwood?

Be original, be different and stay creative. That's all I can give you, goodluck!

Ytube - October 10, 2017, 4:49 am

(Oct 9, 2017 11:01 PM)Invincible Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If making money is the sole reason you are starting a Youtube channel then don't.

YouTube revenue has gone to shit and only people with 100+ subs on niche channels survive because of sponsorships.

I recently made £359.34 off a video with 78000 views, so that doesn't apply to everyone.

jobi - October 10, 2017, 4:56 am

(Oct 10, 2017 04:49 AM)Ytube Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I recently made £359.34 off a video with 78000 views, so that doesn't apply to everyone.

yes maybe if your channel is flagged against certain advertisers which is what the adpocalypse really was.

look at this video i made just for views as an example,

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UCte7Zt0Ooo>]

Ytube - October 10, 2017, 6:00 am

(Oct 10, 2017 04:56 AM)JIIIN Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) yes maybe if your channel is flagged against certain advertisers which is what the adpocolypse really was.

look at this video i made just for views as an example,

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UCte7Zt0Ooo>]

True and my channel could be considered controversial to a lot of people. I can have good days and bad days.

Geass - October 10, 2017, 6:06 am

If you know what to do then you should start a youtube channel, I personally don't want my face or voice over the internet ?

Petty - October 10, 2017, 6:11 am

(Oct 9, 2017 09:13 PM)Calisthenics Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Make your first video and we can tell you if you'll last.

I don't suggest clickbait you can get strikes for that and your account removed, at least mine did nah, you wont get a strike for clickbait. youtube encourages clickbait.