Thread: [\[OFFICIAL GROUP\] > Unity < | Hacking | Programming \[#1\]](#)

Crystallize. - October 12, 2017, 9:56 am

Unity is currently Recruitment-Based Only

We are only as strong as we are united, as weak as we are divided.

Group Userbar

Requirements -Must be active and participate in our projects.
-Must be skilled as programmer & hacker.
-Must contribute to the group.

Recruitment & Informations In Unity we focus on making HackForums a better place when it comes to Hacking and Programming.

We have been talking about what is the group gonna offer and we have many things planned out like Student Program, Contribute to Programming & Hacking Section with tutorials, applications made by us etc.

In Unity only the people with real skills will be accepted, if you don't have any of these two skills then please don't bother applying as your application won't even have a chance to be reviewed.

Recruitment Format

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I can bring plenty of activity in the hacking sections. I can provide tons of knowledge, examples, and ideas of all sorts of hacking that would strongly bring some reputation to the table as far as the groups knowledge and experience. I'd be 100% serious, leaving anything negative behind and in the past. If I were to be accepted to join the group, I'd be a great input.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: Sure, simple older stuff. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4494912>

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Absolutely:

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): WRITE HERE: I'm an IT student, going to school majoring in Computer Science where I plan to go into the Cyber Security field. I've graduated high school with 4 IT certifications, and have an amazing amount of knowledge with hacking AND programming.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): uhh a little of both honestly.

It's nice to see this finally launch, not too many people know this as our partnership fell through but Razor & I actually decided on that Userbar together although at the time it was supposed to be a friendship based group.

Best of luck with Unity though it'd be really cool to see it succeed in its mission.

Nice to see this going!

Razor is a very nice and kind guy!

He is probably busy with his casino and banking some seroius cash hehe

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): For starters i want to say that although i'm new to HF i am HQ and will proof that once i get in, already proving it within HF itself and Viral Dragon (former mod, currently mentor, soon to be mod again) who was my offline partner and brought me to Hackforums recently can verify that, what i can mostly do for this group is help with projects and with that i mean help in marketing but especially Branding a certain project or service, for free ofcourse.

I could also help people answering c# related questions when they are in need of help, although im far far from a real experienced c# programmer, i've been interested in it since my 14th due to game private servers and am planning on picking up on coding regarding UMMORPG Unity3D development wich requires c#, in short terms.

Not sure if these are 120 words but this is who i am and what i can offer, i'm also a web developer tough, mostly front end.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: Selling a very HQ ebook currently for only $7.50 if that counts, i just joined and Viral asked me to release it since his financial status aint that great around here.

Expect alot more from me in the near future tough.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): As stated above i'm willing to help however i can and will do my best while doing so. ?

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): Why wouldnt you? (jokes) Why you want to accept is because i can bring alot to this group on multiple aspects not just one, i'm not some basement kid i'm self made and i know how to walk the talk if you know what i mean.

Altough i'm new on HF, i am HQ tough and will proof that if i get the chance.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): Cracker, Semi-programmer, Web developer, marketing specialist w/e, Product Brander, Designer ?

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I'm sure with some extra help with Unity's future projects would make the project come out faster. Maybe I know some interesting ideas that I can bring to the Unity Community for projects that are being worked on that can actually help improve it.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: I have made a few programs that were very helpful back in 2014 and 2015. I am currently working on more projects.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): I am currently learning more programming languages at the moment so yes, but to an extent.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): I've been on HF for a very long time, I know the in's and out's to an extent. Extra help on your projects would only improve the project.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): Little bit of both, mainly Programmer.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I'm not to sure on what i can bring to this group but I'm willing to learn and meet new people and have a nice time and try and make friends that will teach me things that i didn't know before so one day i can return the favor to this forum and its members. But over time i want to be able to make good things for my friends on here and other members and work on good projects and maybe to work with others and also make some better quality posts, I am also trying to get better at private investigation and Finding web site vulnerabilities as well as trying to get better at things such as SQLi and XSS and i am also working trying to learn some different languages in my mean time.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: No unfortunately not but i did write an eBook a while back on staying safe online and how to keep your information as limited as possible. (if i find it i will release it)

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Hopfully by the time you need my help with something like this i will have enough knowledge on what needs to be done that i will be able to help.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): You should accept me because i am willing to learn and try and teach others if i know what is being spoken about, I am also active as i am either on my pc or i have the HF app on my phone so i am mostly online flicking through different threads But i hope my application is good enough and good luck to everyone else.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words):

I just got into infosec career December last year but already did freelance red teaming work and I've been practicing and studying information security since I was in High School. I have wide variety of skill but the problem is I don't focus on one skill like web pentesting. I currently working as Application Security Tester and recently got my OSCP. I'm also a certified Secured Developer and got into Cisco CyberOps Scholarship.

I love doing vulnhubs machines and CTF then do a writeups for it. I also placed 6th on the last Bugcrowd Local CTF.

Having a busy schedule I believe that I can contribute by helping other Noobs like me (yes, I still consider myself as a noob.) on Pentesting and sharing my experiences.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): Been around HF for roughly a year now, started my time here researching file encryption & techniques and released my first crypter within my first 2 weeks as a user. I have a unique insight to problem solving, and since a group crypter seems to be heavily on mind I am CERTAIN I'll be of great use to your group. I'm skilled with C++ and C#, C# being my go-to practice language for new techniques (due to it's rapid development process w/ the framework at least) but can easily adapt my projects to C++. Skilled in reverse engineering with IDA & debugging with OllyDBG, written several memory hacks for games (notably MTA:SA and Roblox, I'm a fan of lua hooking ?). I can share knowledge and assist people with lower skill sets than me, ideally though I'm hoping other members will also be able to introduce me to different concepts and teach me a few new additions. I'm looking to hone my skill sets in general. Experience in PHP & SQL, HTML5 semantics, CSS3 and all of that good web dev stuff. Security wise, basics down such as SQLi, XSS, CSRF attacks etc. A good understanding of computing logic, and I have no problem with gray hat techniques and applications. Written several experimental malware & controllers and I can develop with good time organisation. Well met with GIT and VS TFS so project collaborations are natural. Although I may not have the highest stats on HF (in regards to my post count), I do contain a lot of knowledge.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: I've currently released two crypters and a few other applications which I've junked. Here are the links: NET Crypter Dope Crypter I have a few more projects which I've written in C++ but did not release (regarding experimentals)

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Yes, I can work on these projects with the group and collaborate with ease, I'm assuming it'll be a team effort so that'll suit me fine.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): I consider myself a skilled programmer, and a novice with security, I've been working and studying these subjects from a young age and I'm entirely self taught. I'd blend in nicely with other members and I try to help out with people's issues whenever possible. I'm pretty busy these days, but I can dedicate a fair amount of time to the projects. My ego might seem big but that's what you gotta do with applications ?. I do other stuff than this, such as game occasionally and other IRL hobbies but yeah.

What does being worthy of the group even mean? It has two members and no background, and will die out in 6 months max. Didn't that Torque thing last less than a week? You didn't specify what you want other than hacking/programming knowledge, using a crypter as an example program to be made by group members on your request. Fuck, judging by your post activity, I doubt you know how a crypter works yourself:

I understand your concern and I know you've been trashing every group in HF.

It has two members because RaZoR was so busy IRL that he didn't really have time to lead a group on his own. Subforum of Torque didn't last because we moved into Unity.

I haven't get leader status from Omni yet so I can't really do anything more.

As for the group crypter it's just an example on how we would contribute to HF with various applications, don't doubt a man's skill just because they didn't go public.

I've never cared about HF and was here for CS section since I was a moderator in a cs go cheat here but during my time I realised there's more than that in HF so i started contributing in everyway I could, anyways I hope you grow up and understand things properly because as it seems right now you are just trashtalking.

You've posted in my other thread too trying to act smartass and stuff but sadly nobody is giving you attention, I am definitely not sure why you want the attention so much but I assume you want to look cool in front of everyone. Anyways we have lots of projects planned for the group so after we do them maybe it will change your opinion and that guy's below you. Thanks for your concern again and I appreciate any feedback positive or negative.

Does releasing skid tutorials and free tools really help HF? Does forcing a false sense of exclusivity really help HF? The answer's no, btw

I am just going to respond to this "does releasing skid tutorials and free tools help HF"

Didn't know that groups are supposed to sell tools instead of releasing them to the community. As for the tutorials, you've never seen them so don't trash talk.

I'm not here to profit, but I'm here to give HF what it always needed a boost in hacking area's. Unity differs from Revelation as all our hacking tutorials, applications will be released to public instead of the group itself.

Again thanks for your concern and have patience till we start our projects (which are on hold because I'm not set leader by Omni yet).

Reason: I have always wanted to learn about sql, rats, fraud, keylogging, trojans ect and know how to protect myself and others from this. Since I was young I had always wanted to know how people write a rat or steal a creditcard from somewhere or dox someone. As time progressed I had learned to dox and use databases to my advantage. But I asked myself how do people get Databases, how to people steal credit cards how would someone be smart enough to hack into the NSA/NASA. This was when I dedicated my time to hacking and how to stop people from hacking myself. I would consider myself basic-intermediate in Fraud, Sql, Ratting, keylogging

What do you think you can bring us?

I have a degree in programming and am now studying Applied Computer Science.

Almost anything web related is no problem for me, I like Python and C# best though.

I'm learning Java at the moment and we're working with C/C++ at school.

I am happy to help anybody and I'm willing to learn. I like to do smaller projects but am not afraid of bigger ones.

I want to work on tutorials that inspire a better style of coding. If anybody has a good idea for a small application I will be happy to look into it

Why should we accept you?

I want to help with programming in any language mentioned above and I think I can contribute some knowledge and small applications to this group.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): : Really don't know what to say here but, I can advertise products, I can help people in unity with their problems in hacking. Currenting Im learning to pentest so I can help poeple pentest once I got a lot of knowledge about it. I still have a social media bot, I own a instagram with 5k followers (in progress) so if anyone in Unity wants likes or shout for shout, whatever I could provide them with it. That is what I can bring to unity.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: : Yes I have here are the links:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5624349>

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5622010>

Ive done many giveaways: Instagram likes, Free RDP's.

I have made my own spreading ebook as well but I didn't link because Im guessing its suppose to be free things that Ive released.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): : Well, Im not he best at coding but I can get products that Unity Made advertised, Im moderator in discord's with over 4000 users so I can ask the owner to advertise it :).

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): : You should accept me because I believe I would be a great asset to the team hacking wise, I have a ton of knowledge in Ratting/Bots/Keyloggers and I own my own spreading ebook and used to own my own social media bot. I could help people with Rats so setting it up and spreading their server and many other things. Im a really nice guy and willing to help anyone out and I like to invest in cryptos.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): Applying as Hacker.

Good luck to all applicants.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I have taken my time to develop my skills as a programmer. I have been through 3 years of university in computer engineering as my major, with a computer science minor. I am well versed in many higher level languages (C,C++,java) and have been working with a lot of assembly here recently. I developed a RSPS (runescape private server) for a few years. I believe that I now have the ability to implement my skills into more tool based creations, as well as to polish other's methods to make them more efficient and smaller. If you need a web development skills, I ran my schools webserver myself during my high school career. I have done blackhat stuff, but do not brag or talk about it publicly. I speak english as my first language and have the time and dedication to make us successful.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: No, I don't have anything I have released here. My old profile might have, but it got deleted for inactivity back when they first started the lack of activity purge of accounts. (Hence my nooby current profile). I am willing to showoff some projects, either web stuff or maybe even my RSPS. (Code or the product itself).

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): The way I look at it, if I have freetime (and I will), that should be spent to enhance other member's experience. I love free software and believe that freeware is the best kind of software. Long story short, I would definitely contribute!

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): If you want a hard worker, that has the experience to backup their claims, I know I am an excellent candidate for consideration.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): I am retired blackhat, who still knows that end of the world, but have moved much more towards programming. I could do both as requested, but definitely a stronger programmer.

Thank you for taking your time to review my application.

Timezone: Central.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): Multiple things. I have decent English skills so I feel I could be of service if the group would ever happen to need any help with a book. I enjoy graphic design, and while I am not the greatest at it, I love to learn. I really enjoy video editing; I am quite good at it. My social-engineering skills are fantastic, and I am certain of that. I am learning to code, and once I do, I am willing to help out with anything. Hacking is easy to learn for me as well, but I love decompiling malware and looking at it as I'm a security monkey. I know how to use (mostly) all hacking tools (i.e. RAT, Keylogger, ect). IT is my forte; if anyone needs help fixing something on their computers, I'll do it. That isn't all, but it is some of what I have to offer. ?

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: Unfortunately, no. I do have my little security blog I just started if you would like to take a look at it. <https://malwares.xyz/>

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Yes.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): I feel that I could be a wonderful companion to all of the group members and help out with many things. I am a loyal person and a friendly guy who has a lot of knowledge on computers and technology. If you are to accept me, this will be my only group I'm in until the end of it. I would enjoy being apart of a group, and I am sure you all would like my personality and kindness, and I hope to share kindness with everyone in the group, even if not invited in to it. Thank you for the chance to be in a group, I appreciate it.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): Both, but I currently lean towards hacker.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I would call myself quite good at writing tools in Python (both hacking related and not). I'm also working on some tutorials regarding Python and browser automation. I know something about building physical hack tools like bad-USB's and I'm also very good at social engineering in most forms. I can't tell too much about this, because of the HF rules I think. Nothing special, but I like making GUI's, so I'm willing to build GUI's for most tools :). I know my fair share regarding jailbreaking, but also about Android (which I highly prefer). And well yeah, I know some basic stuff about brute-forcing, but nothing special. I don't think I can really help anyone regarding that. Oh, and yeah, I like Photoshopping.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I think I can contribute with my knowledge about penetration testing and computers in general. There's a few years of studying computer science, taking courses and getting certificates in penetration testing, so I guess I can contribute to your group. I can work on group project, have a lot of ideas.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?:

THIS, THIS and THIS.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Yes for sure!

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): As I said before, accepting me might bring something new and fresh to your group. I have a lot of ideas, friendly, love to work and learn. I'm online pretty much whole day, active user with at least 1 post per day.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I've been around for a long time, and I'm a really competitive learner. I'm attending college for Mathematics and Computer science. I'm for the most part at least familiar with every subject of CS there is, and very familiar on certain aspects. I can code in ~10 languages, but only really good in PHP (and lately javascript). Know full stack web dev pretty well and in the process of learning a few new js frameworks (angularjs rn) Decent with c++/python, and plenty of experience with c but not a big low level guy so it's not my fav. Got mobile application dev down, ios w/ obj-c and android/java. Also know a lot, well, I used to know a lot, about hacking. Specialize in web app pentesting if you couldn't guess, with the usual stack of penetration vectors.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?:

I've got a few from like 2015, but nah not really. More than willing to contribute, but with the state of HF right now it's rather pointless to write hacking tutorials since nobody hacks here anymore.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc):: Yeah (not crypters though I'm high level lol) but I love new projects because I learn best through experience

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words):: Honestly I just want to share experience and knowledge with other people, I've got a pretty unique background, and I'm pretty creative. I think through my willingness to contribute, learn and share would be a really good relationship for all of us. I don't know exactly what this group will be focused around, but I'd love to take a part and meet some cool people. I know a lot about the business side of things as well as the development, which I'd love to propose project ideas and be a developer in making them come to life. I'm always learning new technologies, and if we ever need a skillset we don't have I have no problem no-lifing a book until I'm familiar in a few days time.

Applying as (hacker/programmer): Both, mainly programmer

Good luck to everyone who is applying, I personally will not be due to the word count and the amount of time I currently have.

Looks like a cool group and maybe if I have a few hours spare in the near future I may apply then. Until then if you need any help with various projects in your group just let me know.

I do love your thread split though.. great graphics.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words):I'm a helpful and, respectful person that helps whenever I can. People who know me are saying that I'm a trustworthy person. I have a successful helpdesk that I re-launched recently. I can provide tons of knowledge, and I'm that guy that often thinks outside the box. I'm a team player and I hope I can be an asset for you guys. I got many aces in my sleeve, but here on Hack Forums I'm more known for Wireless hacking and occasionally some cracking now and then. (I actually wrote two printed books about that subject.) I'm looking forward to meet all of the members in this awesome group. If you have more questions about me i can answer you through PM.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: Yeah, quite a lot to be honest, but due to some INFOSEC i had to remove most of them however this one i didnt have the heart to remove this <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4427603>

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I can bring you alot of knowledge about coding since i started when i was 8 and have moved onto work with it today. I will also bring some of my private tools that i have developed and share them with the group. My speciallty is to automate very advanced process which have made so i can automate almost anything. My biggest automated process was probably making a gift card key generating bruteforcer with could get about 10k gift cards a day (This is patched now). Im also a very good teacher i have even worked as a teacher at my highschool since my teacher got sick. Beacuse of that i can easily learn up new members of the group how to code all kind of things. I always love giving back to the community so i think joining you guys would be a good start.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: No i have not released any tutorial on here but im willing too prove that im a worthy of joining this group.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc):: Yes i have worked with a few members back in the day on here. I also know a few good techniques for working in groups.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words):: Im going to be help the group by mentoring members that wants to learn programming aswell as giving away some of my more private tools to the group. If i were to get accepted into the group i would try to help out with whatever i possibly could and try to make sure the group have all the tools they ever could need. I think i also could be a good leader since i have had tons of experince in taking the lead while making big scale projects with groups up towards 20 people.

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): The knowledge of JavaScript, specifically under the NodeJS platform, including (but not limited to) the common, popular, and mostly used tools, libraries, and frameworks. I can also contribute in the field of API architecture design, implementation, and integration, as well as mobile applications development. I've got almost 4 years worth of experience in this field.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: Unfortunately, I haven't written any tutorials recently (planning to but have no time atm). I do have old ones regarding RATs and basic guides for noobs. Really dunno if this will prove that I'm worth for the group, but hey, worth a shot. Links of the tutorials below:

What do you think you can bring us(minimum 120words): I'd love to contribute to the group with my hacking knowledge, I've been studying the field for some years now and I feel like helping others is something that has to be done to keep the community strong and to introduce more curious people into the world of penetration testing and hacking in general. I'd be able to write tutorials, either private for the group or public for the whole forum to see, help any member who's in need or requires tips, help with group projects whereas my skills can be of use. I'm also very easy to talk to, I'm not a judgemental person so anyone can talk about anything to me.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: I haven't released any tutorials (yet) but I have a few that I'm currently working on, if you want to check whether I'm worthy or not you can take a look at my past posts, I work almost exclusively in the hacking sections and always to help others.

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc): Of course, I'd love to contribute where I can.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): I'm good at explaining topics in a basic way without leaving important info uncovered, this is a good thing because it allows me to write beginner friendly tutorials. I'm always more than willing to share my hacking related knowledge, in fact since I joined the forum as an active member I've been using my time here to help others, and I will keep doing so any time I can be of help to someone who's interested in learning new things.

Do you have any released tutorial/application in HF that can prove you are worthy for the group?: I haven't shared tutorials yet on HF, Although I just finished my finals and I'll be more active in the hacking section/Coding, as during my finals I only had enough time to take care of my gfx/smm business.(I can send you a proof through pm to prove that I am indeed into hacking etc)

Will you be able to work on group projects to release on HF when we request?(Such as group crypter etc):Indeed, for an example I can help add several features to crypters,loggers etc, in addition refud them.

Why should we accept you?(Minimum 80 words): Well, I'll enumerate some of the skills that may help ou the group somehow : I can code in several languages (Vb.net,Autoit,Php,Html,Css...), I can adapt to new languages too, I'm trilingual so I guess that can be used somehow to translate some methods etc, In addition I do graphic designs and social media marketing. Finally I had my share in hacking, through several methods which I can share, I also coded a vb.net keylogger who contains the basic features plus some pretty special features for example delivering the logs to a php panel, a password stealer in the logger etc, Was sold in french forums like a year ago (As I said I'm trilingual).
