Consensus Why you want to join Torque:I've always had an interest in cars. I recently started learning to drive and will be sitting my test in a couple of months. Also been playing a lot of driving/drift games, mainly GTA 5 drift servers, and would love to get some tandems going with other group members.

Why we should invite you to Torque:Pretty good knowledge and understanding of cars. Will help contribute on group threads.

What do you ride/drive?I currently own an old focus that I bought purely to get driving experience. Doing a few little mods soon (spraying alloy wheels etc.) Will be upgrading in March though.

Influence Why you want to join Torque:I really love cars. I've been passionate about them ever since I was a little kid. Just yesterday I received my driver's license. I've been driving for a long time. Drove my dad's C300 back when I was around 12, that was the first time I drove. I just love cars and I'm always looking for somewhere to go just to go out and enjoy the weather and my car.

Why we should invite you to Torque:I've been waiting for this thread to come out for a long time. I feel like this group is the one that I've always really wanted to join. I believe I also PM'd one of the leaders about 2 months back when the next recruitment would be. I would love to join a car group and talk with a bunch of people who share the same interest.

What do you ride/drive?2011 Volkswagen Tiguan 4Motion SE ; I understand it's not the best car lol. I hate the name of the model of the car. It's a pretty solid car though. It has everything I need, it's a good size, and I got a huge discount on the car. I appreciate what I have because some people may not have as good of a car as mine, so I do appreciate it. A lot of the car enthusiasts probably have blacked out C63 AMGs or something like that, and one day, I hope to have a sports car that I earned all for myself.

Age:21 Time Zone:central Profile Link:#plague Previous groups you've been in:None Why you want to join Torque:I've always had a passion for anything that involves cars, I've built my own and bought a few, it's always a new experience. It's different for me I guess, each one is a loving and breathing being. Every individual one has a different personality and you have to understand it to appreciate it. Anyone can buy something to get from point a to point b, but you want to feel that bond with your vehicle. Be able to feel the connection when all 4 or 2 are spinning on the road. It's a lifestyle not something you can turn on and off. The reason I want to join is, I'd like to be able to get up with other people that share that passion and can actually help move myself and others forward on topics we need help on. Be more of a family than a forum.

Why we should invite you to Torque:Ill let that decision be up to the members, I could tell you 1,000,000 things but it's you guys that'll have to put up with me. So just send me a pm and chat for awhile, see if I'm worth keeping around.

What do you ride/drive?My baby is my 2017 wrx, working on her now. But my daily is an 04 dodge 1500. I've had a long long list however.

Sorry for it being so short and not so sweet but I'm currently at work and on mobile, so I did my best.

And I know I'm pretty shy of 500 posts, but I'll gladly engage in any group discussions/contests/etc... I'll be at 1,000 in no time.
