Hello HackForums,

I am a previous member here and this is not my main account i created this because i've been trying to reach the owner of the website to recover my old account since i did a reset to my phone and the 2 auth is gone but i still have the email access and i can still change the password but not access it, i tried to send 2 mails by the " contact " no one replied.

How long has it been since you sent the messages through contact form? It might mean they're busy and you have to be patient and wait for a reply.
