So if you guys want to prank your friends just change the school name at the top using the text tool in photoshop and changing the principal's name at the bottom.

Story -

So we had this presentation due but my friend didn't do it yet. I sent him mine as an example, he turned mine in unknowingly. When he went to present it showed up with my name and our teacher used his partners presentation because she tried to make people not notice it. He was talking about how we might get in trouble but the day I had her class she didn't do anything. I decided to make this as a prank. I made up a BS story about how I'm in the office and you can ask my partner. Then I told him that I dumped the situation onto him and the principal is going to talk to him the next day. So it turns out he told his parents so it wouldn't be as bad and now they hella pissed. This is still going on I'm planning on doing a big reveal.

it's funny that it's working being so basic but @ the same time, most school forms are that basic

Is this made with paint? Anyway, looks like something schools would come up with. Pretty funny
