Yo dude,

I think I might be interested, but I've already bought an upgrade service from another user a few months ago and this upgrade just always stopped working a few days after he retried it.

How long does it hold? Do you have any experiences?

In my experience, the upgrade will generally last a month or two or even longer before a re-upgrade is due. I plan on keeping this service going for as long as i can. Meaning your warranty will not expire.

The difference between myself and other sellers is that i will for a fact re-upgrade any accounts with any kind of issue within the day. Your satisfaction is guaranteed.
