Thread: Need DDoS Protected VPN

Mobware - October 23, 2017, 5:48 pm

Hey HF,

I'm looking for another DDoS Protected VPN. I've already bought [censored] and another VPN on HF yet the DDoS Protected ones by N-o-r-d I can take down with a stresser. The only one I haven't been able to take down for more than 10 minutes is one that's OVH but it is located in Paris. I'm looking for one that is in the United States for online gaming purposes. I haven't been able to find one that is in my price range of less than $80 per year. The only one I have found is SpyProof VPN but it doesn't look very good for $20 Lifetime. Anyone mind putting in some suggestions?

Looks like you need a VPN who has NFOservers ddos protected locations, those should do the job. nVPN.net got some nfoservers in chicago and seattle <https://goo.gl/STZ4HH>

I haven't seen anywhere saying nVPN has NFO servers in Chicago. I've found a VPN called DDoSDeflect, what is your opinion on this? It says that they have OVH, NFO, and VOX servers but I'm not sure if they are just default servers or are customized by the people running the VPN to try to mitigate and stop fishy DDoS attacks.

Its clearly there at USA5(chicago-nfo) <http://prntscr.com/h1l9zn> and i know they have two nfo's as i use it myself.

About ddos deflect VPN never heard of it, never used it personally, so won't speak on it, if they have ovh, vox and nfo it should be alright atleast if they really have ovh, vox, nfo in the USA.

EarthVPN was supposedly Good for Protection against DDOS Attacks.

Else just use an NFO.

- Ex bWa member told me about EarthVPN can't vouch for his statement tho.
