Introduction

Despite my nonreputable semblance, I must push the fact that I am indeed professional and ready to put work in.

I'm knowledgeable in the following areas:

Customer Support

I have worked both in a call center, and for an online Customer Support instant messaging service. I don't get frustrated when non English speaking users don't quite understand what I'm trying to convey, I just slow down and convey my message as politely and thouroughly as possible to maintain the integrity of the product/service.

Writing

I would like to imagine I am fairly decent at writing, I was participating in college creative writing courses by the time I was in 9th grade. I have a keen eye for grammar errors and things of that nature, so if you just need somebody to Proof read your essay for a dollar, I'm your man.

RATs

I am very knowledgeable in remote Administration, I can elaborate in detail anything from how to set the programs up and running, how the spread the executable (my strong suit), and overall just basic troubleshooting questions.

Private Investigation

If you need a contact email found, or the phone number of a particular person, I would be willing to attempt to find the information for a couple of dollars. I am not an expert, but I've had years of experience and I won't give up very easily.

Conclusion

My skill sets are limited, I know, but I'm willing to learn to try and support myself. Difficult times call for desperate measures.

Please, hit me up, doing odd jobs for dollars.

How are you with data entry?

Need someone to copy and paste some stuff for me, and organise it.
