Thread: Good anime from the fall 2017 season?

grady - October 31, 2017, 8:42 pm

Literally the only thing I've watched so far that's half decent is Juuni Taisen and the Bride of the Ancient Magus (manga is dope as well) everything else looks like shit, haven't tried some of them though

Black Clover I've looked at and the MC is screaming for literally half the fucking show so far, anything good/suggestions, etc?

Deany - October 31, 2017, 8:45 pm

I'm not really watching anything this season except for these Kino's Journey, Konohana Kitan and Shoujo Shuumatsu Ryokou are pretty good this season.

Marshmallow - November 1, 2017, 1:29 am

Kino's Journey is good shit my nigga.

WaterWhippin - November 2, 2017, 8:35 am

Definitely Kino's Journey like they said above me. Also try Inuyashiki, heartless young antagonist vs. kind old man who wants to save everyone. Oh yeah and they both are cyborgs. It's a really good anime so far.

Inuyashiki, it has those somewhat 3d graphics, but what intrigued be is the slice of life thriller story style. It's something new for me.

the new 3-gatsu and shokugeki are nice, generally a pretty bad season tho

cleez - November 3, 2017, 9:44 pm
