Thread: URGENT - Any Indian using paypal, please help. My PayPal Negative Balance :@

ANME - November 1, 2017, 1:08 am

So they charged me -7.70USD for my bank rejecting the withdraw from PayPal and PayPal sent me a demand draft of the amount with a cheque.

Now I can't add funds in an indian paypal to clear out this negative balance. The first way is to send them money order which will take days and I can't do that but the second option is to receive such an amount as goods/services so that it will clear out the -7.70 USD and I won't have any remaining balance in my paypal after that because if that happens then it will auto withdraw to my bank and bank will reject it again, resulting in more paypal negative balance.

The fees are for indian paypal seller : 4.4% +fixed fees. Idk what's the fixed fees.

So please tell me how much amount should I receive that will clear out this negative balance and i won't have any remaining balance after that.

I can't calculate.

Update: So they told me the standard payment transaction for receiving payment is 4.4% + $0.30 for every transaction received. Still I don't know what exact amount should I receive to clear out this exact negative balance and not leaving any remaining amount in the paypal.

$7.70$ + 0.3388$ + 0.30$ = 8.3388$$ So Basically 8.34$

Simple, Call your bank allow international banking ask them to enable paypal withdraw/deposit to your account then ask someone to send 8.34$ Dollar as goods and service.

Do I need an axis or ICICI bank instead of SBI bank?

Do I need a checking account instead of savings account?
